FOR MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Lawyer Burton W. Gibson is Placed Under Arrest in New York.

AGAIN ASSERTS HIS INNOCENCE

Doctor Shows Judge How Mrs. Szabo Met Death by Strangulation.

New York, Sept. 12.—Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer, whose client, Rosa Menschik Szabo, lost her life while boating with him on Greenwood lake, N. Y., on July 16, was taken into custody today by Deputy Sheriff DeGraw, of Orange county, on a warrant charging Gibson with murder in the first degree. Gibson was arrested at his office. It was announced that they would start immediately for Middletown.

Gibson issued a statement reasserting his innocence and insisting that there had been no struggle either in the boat or in the water. "I am not prepared," he said, "to believe that the report will show that Mrs. Szabo died of strangulation. There certainly was no struggle in the water between Mrs. Szabo and myself which would result in her being strangled. When she came up she did not hit the boat in such a manner that would cause her to die of strangulation. I certainly did not touch her by the throat and there was no way by which she could have died in that manner."

Had Felt Anxious.

Gibson explained that while he was not worried about the strangulation charge, he had felt anxious over the outcome of the autopsy, fearing that poison in the embalming fluid would lead to a mistaken impression that a poison had been administered. He added, however, that he had looked up the law and found that the use of an embalming fluid containing an active or irritant poison was no longer permitted.

"I ceased to worry after that," said the lawyer.

Gibson's greatest sorrow was in leaving his little daughter at their home in Rutherford, N. J. Being separated from her, he said, was "the worst feature of the case."

When Deputy Sheriff DeGraw entered the building where Gibson has his office he met Gibson in the corridor and seized him roughly by the arm. Gibson protested and said that he had been assured by the detectives that he would not be molested until noon. DeGraw took him into custody notwithstanding.

All night long private detectives hung about the Gibson home, while the headlights of an automobile were turned on the Gibson house so that all exits could be watched.

Physician Tries It on Court.

Evidence submitted before County Judge Royce, of Middletown, upon which a warrant charging Gibson with murder in the first degree was issued was most sensational. Dr. Schultze, coroner's physician of this city, swore that Mrs. Szabo was so injured before she fell in the water that she never breathed after she had sunk below the surface. The surgeon said there were tricks of jiu jitsu whereby Mrs. Szabo could have suffered a sharp blow in the throat which so affected a nerve as to close her air passage thereby, making it impossible to breathe. DURBIN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Republican Candidate for Governor in Keynote at Marion.

RECALLS HIS OWN SOLDIER RECORD

Outlines Policies He Will Put Into Effect If Elected.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 12.—The republicans formally opened their state campaign this afternoon when Winfield T. Durbin, of Anderson, their nominee for governor, made his keynote speech and outlined the policies that he will put into effect should he be elected.

Mr. Durbin spoke from a stand erected in the large pavilion in the center of Matter park. He was introduced by Samuel L. Strickler, former state senator, in these words:

Ladies and Gentlemen: "This is Col. Durbin, who is to be the next governor of Indiana. He made one of the best governors of this state and when he is elected he will make a still better one."

The republican nominee has never made any claims to being an orator, but he delivered his address in a clear voice that was plainly heard by those on the edge of the crowd. "Nearly fifty years ago," began Mr. Durbin, looking straight at the big crowd of old soldiers in front of him, "I answered the call of Abraham Lincoln and Oliver P. Morton and offered all that I had to give in behalf of my country. Fifteen years ago the call of patriotic duty came again and answering the summons of Wm. McKinley and James A. Mount, I served my state and my country as best I could so long as my services as a soldier were required."

Mr. Durbin declared that there is now just as much a call to patriotic duty as there was in the sixties and nineties and several times during his speech he appealed to the patriotism of the soldiers of the two wars to fight for their country with their ballots as bravely and fearlessly as they fought for it with their arms in the past.

Dwells on State Matters.

On state matters Mr. Durbin dwelt at considerable length, declaring that under republican administration there was a decrease of the state debt while the state debt was, with one exception, always increased when the democrats were in power.

TALKS TARIFF AT STATE FAIR

Governor Wilson at Syracuse Talks to Largest Crowd of Campaign.

PLACES BLAME FOR HIGH LIVING COST

Calls Tariff a Malignant Growth That Requires Surgical Operation.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson talked politics here today at the state fair before the largest crowd that has yet gathered to hear him in his presidential campaign. Gov. Dix, United States Senator O'Gorman and Acting Chairman McAdoo of the national committee were grouped behind the presidential nominee as he leaned over the rail of the stand and delivered a speech devoted chiefly to the tariff.

"We have the right to look to our government," he said, "not to support us but to remove the obstacles to our individual self support. It is said that prices have not risen higher and faster in high tariff countries than in no tariff countries, but statistics stand in the way of the assertion, showing that the United States is burdened with a cost of living as no other country in the world.

Cites Some Instances.

"Take the price of meat, for instance, and the price of meat is at the heart of the business, for it is the meat that makes the blood red and work easier. The price of meat has gone up 30 and 40 per cent in ten years in this country and price of American meat has not gone up a fraction of a cent per pound in London markets.

"The wall of the tariff enables certain gentlemen to get behind it and say 'we are all of us secured, why cut one anothers throats—why not stand together?' and they did with reference to meat without incurring the danger of the provisions of the law."

Says Surgery Is Needed.

The governor here referred to the circular letter revealed during the trial of the meat packers in Chicago in which appropriate prices for meat were suggested and he said: "With a gentility unsurpassed in the history of business etiquette, the suggestion was always accepted. I find myself the subject of largess by my opponents in reference to the tariff. They all have said, 'We're not going to disturb the tariff and we are going to let the government regulate the trusts.'"

The governor remarked that those who objected to the tariff only because of an unevenly distribution of its benefits and those who were willing to have the trusts "stay as they are but under the control of the government" were declining to attack the central difficulty of the problem and a man who said this was "utterly unable to solve the questions of our life, and hasn't nerve enough to get to the center."

The governor referred to the tariff as a "malignant growth that required a surgical operation."

"If I am a surgeon and you are a sufferer," he asked, "will I not see that your declining years are made happy? I will perform an operation, but I will not cut a single tissue that is wholesome. I am going to cut out the diseased portion and save your life. The man who does not propose to cut the dead out is a quack and not a surgeon. Don't let the quacks deceive you."

While Gov. Wilson was speaking a portion of the circular bandstand on which he was standing cracked ominously but did not give way.

Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany hall leader, greeted Gov. Wilson at the hotel upon his arrival and again at the luncheon.

OUT EARLY TO SEE BIG FAIR

Crowds Evidently Waited to Attend Exposition on the "Big" Day.

EXPECT TO DRAW AS WELL FRIDAY

Attendance Wednesday Not Up to Last Year's Total for Same Day.

Fair directors were a little inclined today to the belief that in point of attendance the big show at the Driving park would fall away short of the figures of last year, but before the attractions were all in full swing people began to pour into the gates and by the time the races were called the place was packed and everything indicated that history had repeated itself and that Thursday would again be the "big day" of the week.

There was a big disappointment last night when the receipts were checked up as the attendance had fallen 2,000 short of the Wednesday of last year. It was expected that the presence of Governor Thomas R. Marshall would offset Nickel Plate day in 1911 when the road brought in 2,300, but didn't, and there is a big deficit, but this will probably be adjusted today and tomorrow.

Big Things in Reserve.

There are a lot of big things in reserve. In the first place all of the exhibits will be in place and in better shape to be seen tomorrow than they have at any time during the week for the reason that all the awards will have been made and none of the stock will be missing from the places assigned to it when it was placed on exhibition.

Then there is the big race card of the afternoon which will bring out all of the fastest harness horses on the grounds and if the management can find any extra attraction for the day some will be put on to satisfy the people and get the crowds, although the fair has been of the best all week and well worthy of patronage.

Started Out Early Today.

The first trains and interurban cars that arrived in the city this morning carried thousands of fair patrons and just as soon as the cars began their trips to the park they were crowded and the jam at noon promised that the afternoon would find the crowd as large as the association directors had anticipated.

One little accident threw the street railway system all out of kilter about 10 o'clock when one of the cars jumped the track on the park line on account of a broken flange and delayed traffic for a short time. Superintendent Palmer went out to take personal charge of

BIRDMEN READY FOR THE SIGNAL

Fatal Plunge of Paul Peck Does Not Daunt Other Aviators.

CHICAGO MEET OPENS

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The aviation meet of the Aero Club of Illinois, which is scheduled to last ten days, will start this afternoon at 3 o'clock on Cicero field. More than a score of American and foreign aviators are entered for the events, the prizes for which aggregate $24,000. The machines were being groomed for the races at Cicero field last night and although the aviators were somewhat downcast over the fatal plunge of Paul Peck at the field yesterday afternoon none of them gave any indications of withdrawing.

Competition for the first four days will be at Cicero field and will be between aeroplanes, giving a chance for comparison between American and foreign skill. Each day's program will consist of exhibition flights, accuracy landing contests with motor shut off, 1,000 feet up, bomb, mail and express throwing, races between biplanes and monoplanes and passenger-carrying contests. Each day the hours for flying will be between 3 o'clock and 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Next Monday the meet will shift to the lake front for the hydroplane races.

SEE ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP HOTEL

Explosive is Set Off Outside a French Lick Hostelry.

MAY BE JOKER'S ACT

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 12.—An attempt was made to blow up the Brown hotel here or to alarm its occupants early today, but no serious damage was done and no one was injured. The explosion awakened the people living in the vicinity of the hotel.

The windows in the basement of the hotel and in the first story were shattered. It was first thought a stick of dynamite had been thrown into the building but as smoke filled the upper stories it is now believed a charge of loose powder was placed on the ground outside the basement window or that a bomb of some kind filled with powder and wrapped with twine was thrown there.

The explosive had been placed between the back brick wall of the hotel and an engine house nine feet away and it made a report much louder than if there had been a greater space. As the explosive was insufficient to do great damage some persons are of the opinion that it was the work of a practical joker.

CAPTURED 42 STRIKERS.

West Virginia Militia Active in Martial Law Zone.

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 12.—Lieut. L. A. Gaul, of company A, with eight men of the state militia, about noon today captured 42 men, striking miners, armed with pick handles, clubs and rocks, when they attempted to prevent miners of the Four States Coal company from returning to work. Major James I. Pratt dispatched a special train to Dorothy, Raleigh county, to bring in the prisoners.

WILSON LEADS IN STRAW VOTE AT ELKS' TEMPLE.

RECEIVERS FOR MOTOR CONCERN

Big Holding Company Finds Its Affairs in a Tangle.

PLANS TO REORGANIZE

New York, Sept. 12.—Receivers were appointed today for the United States motors company, a $42,500,000 holding corporation organized in 1908 to control ten automobile and gas engine manufacturing companies. Its directors number some of the best known capitalists in the country.

The receivers, W. E. Strong and Robert Walker, were appointed by Judge Hough, in an insolvency suit brought in the federal district court by the Brown and Sharpe Manufacturing company of Providence, R. I., in its own behalf and that of other creditors.

In addition to the appointment of the two receivers for holding company, five of its constituent companies were involved, namely: The Alden Sampson Manufacturing company, of Detroit; the Brush Runabout company, of Detroit; the Columbia Motor company, of Hartford, Conn.; the Dayton Motor Car company, of Dayton, Ohio, and the Maxwell-Brisco company, of Tarrytown, N. Y.

Bankers identified with the company say that the proceedings are friendly and brought with the purpose of clearing up the company's affairs with a view of protecting the creditors. Plans for reorganization are said to be under way.

The securities of the United States Motor company have been declining on the curb market for some time, and it was generally reported that the company was in difficulties.

JENNINGS IS SUSPENDED.

Detroit Manager and Player Vitt Are Out of the Game.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—Manager Hugh Jennings and Oscar Vitt, of the American league base ball league this afternoon received suspension notices from President Johnson as the result of their conduct during yesterday's game with Philadelphia. Umpire Connolly ordered Jennings off the field when the manager protested a decision and later in the game Umpire Hart treated Vitt, who had been coaching, in the same manner. The length of the suspensions have not been learned.

IT PUTS A CRIMP IN PROGRESSIVES

Returns in Colorado Primary Show Taft Crowd Has Won the Day.

PROVES A REVERSAL

Denver, Col., Sept. 12.—Returns today from Tuesday's state wide primaries reversed the complete victory which was indicated for the progressive wing of the republican party. Progressive republicans elected only two candidates who had announced they were Roosevelt progressives—Philip B. Stewart, for governor, by apparently less than 1,000 majority over Clifford C. Parks, regular republican, and Attorney General Benjamin Griffith, incumbent.

Stewart's victory, it is said today, precludes the launching of a complete Roosevelt progressive party ticket which was to be placed on the November ballot by petition.

Elias A. Ammons won the democratic gubernatorial race by probably 5,000 over Thomas Tyan, warden of the Colorado state penitentiary.

Progressive democrats were chosen for all state offices. There were no contests for presidential elector nominations, democratic and republican parties each selecting six electors.

NAME BALDWIN AGAIN.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 12.—Gov. Simeon E. Baldwin was renominated today without opposition by the democratic state convention.

STRIKING TRACKMEN IN MARCH ALONG RAILROAD.

Pittsburg, Sept. 12.—Trackmen employed by the Pittsburg and Lake Erie railroad, struck this morning for an advance of 25 cents a day to $2, and starting at Fayette City, Pa., began a march along the line.

Although few in number they gathered force as they proceeded and at noon they passed through Belmore, Pa., numbering 214. Freight handlers at a number of points are said to have joined the strikers. At the general offices of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie here, it was said the trouble originated over an unpopular foreman.

ENDS OWN LIFE BESIDE FLOWER-COVERED FORM OF WIFE HE HAD SLAIN.

Wallace, Idaho, Sept. 12.—The body of Charles Keil, aged 74, said to have been a wealthy Minneapolis merchant at one time, and that of his wife, were found in a mountain cabin near Murray today. Keil had evidently shot his wife and then himself. After shooting his wife, he washed her wounds, banked her body with flowers, knelt by her side and blew out his brains.

A letter addressed to Charles Hyle, of Portland, believed to be a son-in-law, that pleaded with his children to take back their mother that she might die in her old home. Another note declared that he had committed the deed to prevent his wife from being taken to an asylum.

THIEF ROBS SOUTH BEND COPPER AS HE SLUMBERS.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 12.—While Anders Hansen, day police sergeant, slept peacefully, a thief, who evidently knew of Hansen's habit of carrying large sums of money, crept into his home and robbed him of between $300 and $400. The money was taken from a pocket of Hensen's trousers, which hung less than eight feet from the bed where the policeman and his wife were sleeping. The policeman had a fear of savings banks.

New York Attorney and Client for Whose Death He Has Been Arrested.

BURTON W. GIBSON.

MRS. ROSA MENSCHIK SZABO.

Officer Shaughnessy, Schoolmaster

A FEW DAYS AGO a big, six-cylinder touring car came gliding down Calhoun street from the north, and was dashing across the transfer and turning east on Main when the crowd uttered a yell which caused Traffic Officer Shaughnessy to make one frantic leap to a place of safety. The officer was facing south, directing the movement of the east and west traffic, when the driver of the machine in question dashed into the forbidden territory with such a degree of speed and independence as to endanger the safety of several people. Immediately Officer Shaughnessy stopped the automobile. He found it occupied by a portly individual greatly resembling the cartoonist's idea of the figure of the trust. His chauffeur was a small-looking young man with an independent air. The machine bore a tag showing that it had been licensed in Ohio.

The occupants of the machine listened to the emphatic instructions of the traffic officer, who wound up his story by telling the driver to back up his machine several rods and to make the turn again. While the crowd looked on, the driver did as he was told. The machine came down once more at a "right smart" speed and tried to turn the corner according to directions. But it didn't. The officer saw that his instructions weren't obeyed, so he stopped the machine again and made the driver back it up the second time, after adding a postscript to the original instructions. This time the turn was made successfully and the strangers smiled broadly as the dispersing crowd gave them, and the officer three cheers and a tiger.

AVIATOR PECK DIES IN FALL

Airman Fatally Hurt Trying Spectacular Feat at Chicago.

LIVED BUT AN HOUR

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Without having regained consciousness, following a fracture of the skull sustained in a fall in his biplane while attempting a flight in a gusty wind last night, Aviator Paul Peck, of Washington, D. C., died at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Peck was the holder of the American duration flight record, and was regarded as one of the five premier American aviators. He attempted too steep a spiral, and when he struck the ground the heavy engine came crashing through the wreckage and struck him in the neck.

A gusty wind blew at Cicero field all day and Director Andrew Drew posted the customary warning to aviators against going up. Peck, believing his small biplane would be fast enough to carry him through the choppy wind, went into the air in spite of the caution.

At about 400 feet altitude he started to come down in a spiral glide. Because of the unusually narrow span of his machine, Peck got into a too steep spiral, his aeroplane slid in toward the center of the vortex and he could not bring it back.

His real difficulty did not become apparent until he was within 200 feet of the ground. He would have escaped with minor injuries, Director Drew and his technical committee declared, had it not been for the fact that the engine, crashing through the framework with its gasoline tank and iron fittings, struck Peck in the neck and across the legs. He died an hour later in St. Anthony De Padua hospital.

Peck was American-licensed aviator No. 57 and had developed a monoplane and the biplane in which he was killed. The biplane was of only 26 feet span, headless and equipped with a gyro motor. He was about 24 years old and making a trial flight preparatory for the International aviation meet here today.

AGED MAYOR WAS ALWAYS ON ALERT

TERROR TO THE EVIL

Bristol, Tenn., Sept. 6.—Capt. William L. Rice, mayor of the Virginia half of this two-state town, has retired from office after a service of ten years. Captain Rice is nearly eighty years old, one of the best known men in the south, a mayor of Bristol before the war, when the place was little more than a village, and a brother of the late Mrs. Roger A. Pryor, of New York, wife of the supreme court justice.

Captain Rice was defeated last June for a renomination by George M. Warren because the people thought a younger man should be mayor, not because Captain Price had lost his popularity. The veteran took his defeat calmly and next week will retire to his truck farm and raise vegetables. He is accounted one of the best scientific farmers in the south.

In 1865, when Bristol was called "Sapling Grove" and when the link between the civilization and progress of the New England states and the undeveloped south was just being built, in the form of the Virginia and Tennessee railway, he was chosen by the Sapling Grove community to serve as Bristol's first Mayor. He inaugurated progressive methods and gave to the community that impetus which went a long way toward making it the metropolis of the mountains, with a population now of nearly 20,000. After his term as mayor of early Bristol, years passed before he was officially connected with the town again. He fought through the war. He drifted into Kentucky, where he taught school and conducted a farm, and from there went to Texas and taught some of the men who have since been conspicuous in national politics as representatives in congress from the Lone Start state.

Eventually Captain Rice drifted back to Bristol, and, like his sister, he seemed to develop his greatest usefulness in old age. While his sister was writing books in New York Captain Rice, then past seventy years of age, was again being groomed for office. He won out in his race for the mayoralty and has held the office until a few days ago.

Mayor Rice soon showed the stuff he was made of. He always displayed the courage of his convictions and stood for what he believed to be right, regardless of consequences. He would not take an insult from any man without resentment, and on more than one occasion has made his cane an effective instrument in defense. It is only a few months since his name was known the country over because of the fierce pounding he gave a prominent Bristol lawyer with his cane, claiming that the lawyer had dared reflect upon his character. Just last week again he called down a young man who had used insulting language to him, and the latter found himself making apologies and begging for mercy when he saw the mayor's unfailing stick raised.

Having in his earliest days been classed among the "sports," the gamblers and divekeepers supported him as an "old founder." But they found after he had taken office that their activities could not have found a more determined enemy. Mayor Rice fought all the vices of society with might and main, closed the gambling rooms and shut up the resorts. Today the dives are closed and their keepers are under heavy bond to appear in court.

Captain Rice was born in Halifax county, Virginia, April 6, 1833. In 1851-52 he took the law course at the University of Virginia. He came to Bristol in April, 1855. He was elected representative of Washington county, Virginia, in the state legislature of 1856-57. He, with four brothers, enlisted in the confederate army at the beginning of the civil war. Three of his brothers were killed in battle. He went out as third lieutenant in Company A from Bristol. He was promoted on the battlefield of Laurel Hill to adjutant of the Thirty-seventy regiment of infantry.

He was soon transferred with his regiment to Stonewall Jackson's command, where he remained until Jackson's death. He was promoted from adjutant of the Thirty-seventh regiment to adjutant of the Third brigade. He was elected mayor of modern Bristol in May, 1902, and held five offices combined—mayor, police justice, coroner, justice of the peace and overseer of the poor.

DECATUR NEWS.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 12.—Mrs. William Chilcoat, of Newark, Ohio, who has been visiting with her brother, Herman Tettman and wife, left this morning for Dayton, Ohio, for a further visit before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Cox and family left this morning for Traverse City for a visit with friends.

Peter Amspaugh, Joe Kiess and Wesley Stults went to Fort Wayne this morning to attend the fair.

Leo Meyers, son of John Meyers, this city, now located at Hoagland as a veterinary surgeon, was married last evening to Miss Anna Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baker, of Union township.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Boknecht returned this morning from Burt, N. D., where they spent two weeks with Mr. Boknecht's brother, and Mrs. Boknecht's sister, Mrs. and Mrs. Lewis Boknecht, formerly of Root township this county. They went west three years ago. Bumper crops after two years' failure are in order in that vicinity.

Mrs. E. R. Richards and daughter, Lola, of Laud, are visiting with her mother, Mrs. Amelia Hoagland.

Miss Clara Apt and brother, Guy Apt, returned to Butler. They visited with their sister, Miss Leah Apt, of the Hooper & Lenhart office.

Ray Collins, manager of the Morris five and ten cent store, was a Bluffton business visitor.

Miss May Weber returned to her work at Fort Wayne. She passed through this city on her way home from Delphos, O., where she attended the wedding of her brother, John Weber, son of Mrs. Mary Weber, this city, to Miss Dorothy Sendelbach, of that place. The couple will live in this city, the groom being shipping clerk for the Ward Fence factory.

Mrs. Willis Bell, of Montgomery, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. George Owen.

Mr. and Mrs. I. Bernstein have gone to South Bend to spend the Jewish New Year. The will be gone Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Steele have returned from Fort Wayne where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Steele's father, George Middleton. Grandchildren who attended were: Edna Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Inler, Mrs. Charles Barnhart and children, Mrs. Ernest Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Steele.

Clyde McClure and Miss Ruth Worden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Worden, were married in this city by Rev. E. A. Goodwin, pastor of the United Brethren church.

Mary Elizabeth is the name of the babe born to Fred Engle; Paul Andrew that of the son of Andrew Barkley.

A letter to Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Ehinger from their son, Lawrence, now Confr. Vincent C. P., a student in the monastery at St. Louis, Mo., states that he is in the St. John's hospital where he was operated upon last Saturday for an organic trouble. He was sent telegrams asking him to come to the funeral of Anthony Conter, his former classmate both in the local schools and the monastery, but those were not given him on account of his illness. When writing the letter home he had not yet heard of the death, apparently.

The pure, clean mouthed men of the city, especially those who have never chewed tobacco, smoked, drank whisky nor uttered a foul word, were shocked when a portly female with a little spotted dog went to the public square pump and both drank out of the public tin cup. An irate man grabbed the cup from the female and trampled it beneath his feet. The female passed on to the Erie train, no doubt commenting to herself that the flower of knighthood in Decatur has gone to seedy thistle down and blown away.

Nine horses in the vicinity of Monroe have died from heat within the past few days.

Mrs. A. C. Ball went to North Manchester to attend the United Brethren conference.

AT 80, WORKS IN FIELDS.

Father of Twenty-two Says He May Have to Steal Chickens When Old.

Laporte, Ind., Sept. 12.—Mayor Lem-Jenkins has been working hard in the harvest field here for the last two weeks. He pitches wheat on the hottest days, even if he is more than 80 years old. He does not know his exact age, but can prove that he has twenty-two children, the youngest 22 years old, and more than forty-five grandchildren. He has three great-grandchildren. Mr. Jenkins does not chew or smoke, but plays ball, wrestles and pitches horseshoes. He seldom eats more than two meals a day. "A man ought to work all the time he can, so people will respect and call him industrious," he says. "But when he gets too old to work it ain't wrong to steal chickens."

FARE BOX ENDS WEEPING.

Ohio Conductor Soothes Infant for Tired Mother.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Contractor 2862, Denison line, is one in a million or at least one in as many as the Cleveland Railway company employes. During the rush hour recently the cars were delayed at the Superior viaduct while a freighter leisurely followed a tug down the river. When Conductor 2862 left the viaduct he had about 200 aboard his car. A woman stepped on the car with two babies. One cried continually. "Let me have it," said Conductor 2862. He placed the weeping youngster on the fare box, between the rails, and warned all passengers to drop their tickets and fare in such a way that the "kid" wouldn't be disturbed. The wails ceased.

THE POLICE COURT

Charles Watson and his mother in their testimony on the stand in the police court this morning on the charge of horse-stealing against Watson tried to prove that Watson's mind is affected.

In tears, the poor old mother, who seems to be about the only friend Watson has, told of the suicide of her other son three years ago after he had been released from the insane asylum at Logansport. The son cut his throat.

Watson was bound over to the Allen circuit court, and Mabel Langohr, the principal witness for the state, was also held under a bond of $100.

The Other Cases.

A. Pinman was riding his bicycle on the sidewalk yesterday afternoon and this morning his wheel was returned to him with a warning.

Ed Keller will have to answer on September 17 to the charge of embezzling $86.50 from Charles F. Harms, for whom Keller has been working as an agent.

John Berry pleaded guilty to stealing a watch and rings and money from Mrs. Sarah Sprankle, and his case was sent to the circuit court under $500 bond. Berry has just passed his sixteenth birthday.

Of those charged with loitering, John L. Bucker was fined $1 and costs, Sidney Hedges was allowed to go, and John Earley was also released.

Of those charged with drunkenness, Julius Barron's case was continued indefinitely; John Shrimson was fined $5 and costs; Frank Day drew $1 and costs; Mike Fitzsimmons will serve out a $5 and costs package; John Jackson drew $1 and costs; Jeff Meyers will serve another term to pay a $5 and costs fine; Charles McKinley got a similar judgment; Henry Flazzer $1 and costs, and John Smith's case was indefinitely continued.

WOULD HUNT PRAIRIE BIRDS.

Laporte Mayor Drafts Bill Providing Ten Days' Open Season.

New Haven, Mo., Sept. 12.—Henry uel Darrow, of this city, is drafting a hunting bill for the next legislature to provide an open season of ten days for prairie chickens, on which hunting there is now a ban until 1915. The bill will provide for only five birds to the man. It is said that the bill will have the ny hunters, who declare that a short open season will not hurt the supply of chickens.

FIRE TRAPS MUST BE TORN DOWN

State Fire Inspectors Order the Razing of Several Buildings at Delphos.

Delphos, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Inspectors Zuber and Heizer, ofthe office of State Fire Marshal John W. Zuber, of Columbus, were in Delphos this week and issued orders for the razing of a number of buildings in the business district of the city and also gave orders for the placing of metal roofs and siding on a number of other buildings. Copies of the notices have been placed in the hands of M. H. Westrich, chief of the fire department. In all twenty-six notices were left with him and more will likely be issued as a result of the visit here.

Among the buildings classed as "fire-traps" and which must be torn down within thirty days, are the frame buildings of Frank Wulfhurst, on North Main street, the buildings of John Sheeter, on South Main street, and the building of Fred Schleuter on Fourth street. Orders were also issued for the placing of metal roofs and metal siding on various buildings and in some cases the improvements requested are so extensive that the buildings will be razed and some of these are now being demolished.

MANY FARMERS QUIT WORK

To See Plows in Adams County Operated Without Horses.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 12.—Gang plows drawn by steam and gasoline engines have been in use on the big farms of the west for years, but the first one to be put into use in Adams county has just been set up and put into operation on the farm of Charles Keiss, a prominent and progressive farmer of Preble township.

Mr. Keiss recently purchased an outfit consisting of a gasoline engine and four plows behind which a drag is attached, all of which are operated at the same time by power furnished by the engine. The outfit is attracting much attention from the farmers in the vicinity and the Keiss farm is the most popular place in Preble township since he began to operate it.

Every farmer in the community has quit his work and made his way to the Keiss farm to see the machinery work.

SAFE REMEDY ENDS CATARRH MISERIES

Gives Instant Relief, Cures and Prevents Catarrh and Cold in the Head.

The quickest, best and safest way to cure catarrh or a cold in the head is by using a remedy that will "touch the spot" and do its work quickly without leaving any bad effects. Ely's Cream Balm, which is applied to the nostrils or rubbed on the throat or chest gets right at the root of the trouble and instantly relieves even the worst case of catarrh or cold. A few minutes after applied you can feel a loosening up in the head, the pain and soreness is one, the sense of taste, smell and hearing come back and you feel like a different person.

Ely's Cream Balm cleanses, heals and strengthens the inflamed membranes, takes away the stuffed up feeling and dull pain in the head, relieves the throat soreness and stops the nasty discharge which is the cause of the disgusting hawking, spitting, blowing of the nose, and foul breath. Hay fever victims who are made miserable by fits of sneezing, coughing and wheezing get instant and permanent relief by the use of this simple remedy.

Don't suffer another minute. Ely's Cream Balm will relieve you immediately, and a 50 cent bottle will more than likely work a complete cure. All druggists sell it. Agents, Meyer Bros. Co.

FRENCH AVIATOR IN GREAT FLIGHT THAT WON GORDEN BENNET CUP RACE.

Jules Vedrines, rounding a pylon in His winning flight at the Gordon Bennet cup race in Chicago last Monday. He flew 105.5 miles in one hour.

Human Wings near 200 miles an hour!

Since 1909 the speed of the aeroplane has increased from 50 to 105 miles. What will happen in three years more?

What is the speed limit of a winged gas engine?

Nobody knows. The development of the science of flying has been so wonderful in the last few years that even expert aviators will not hazard a guess.

All they can say is that the aeroplane is responding as nothing else is to the demand of the modern speed maniac for fast, faster, fastest. And what is inconceivable speed today may see what is just mile an hour tomorrow?

It is but three years since the Gordon Bennett aeroplane race was instituted and in that brief time the speed of aerial racing craft has more than doubled.

The 1909 race was won at 50 miles an hour. The other day, in the 1912 Gordon Bennett race in Illinois, Jules Vedrines flew, around a small circular course, 105.5 miles an hour. And the same afternoon he bettered that by making 20 kilometers in less than 7 minutes—a speed of over 107 miles an hour.

Try to grasp what such speed means. For more than 100 miles this dare-devil little French mechanic, with his 140-horse-power monoplane, built in the likeness of a flying fish, outstripped any fish that ever flew, and any but the fastest birds. Every minute, for 60 minutes in succession, he moved 9,240 feet. Every second he put 154 feet behind him—half the distance of an average city block.

At that rate Vedrines could almost fly across the 3000 miles of the American continent between two sunrises. He could cross the Atlantic in a day and a night.

And this, aviators think, is only the beginning. If the speed has doubled in three years, why may it not double again in the next three?

How long will it be before a man can fly from New York to Chicago between breakfast and lunch, and from Chicago to Denver between lunch and dinner?

And the pity of it is that America, which first lifted wings to the gas engine and made man at home in the air lanes, has surrendered its conquest to foreigners. The last Gordon Bennett race went by default to the French, and the only one found for an American aeroplane was to go aloft for the purpose of photographing the flying Frenchman.

Provide for Garbage Disposal.

Under no consideration should the new city budget be made up without including some provision looking toward the establishing of an adequate garbage disposal system for Fort Wayne, and the fight to that end that is promised in the city council next week will have the support of all who have taken the garbage question into serious consideration. Year after year we have managed to get along in a slip-shod sort of fashion by patching up the wholly inadequate and wasteful crematory makeshift on North Clinton street, which is taxed to its utmost capacity already and is in constant liability to accident that will put it wholly or in part out of commission. It cannot begin to keep pace with the constantly growing demands that are made upon it as a result of increasing population, and further expenditure upon it of any considerable sum would amount to a shameless waste of the people's money. Fort Wayne is in no position financially to proceed at this time with the construction and installation of a garbage reduction system such as the city ought to have, but there ought to be no further delay in fixing a small tax levy that will provide the start of a fund for this purpose, precisely as the municipal lighting fund was started years before the construction of the plant was undertaken. As The Sentinel sees it, the need for action of this kind at once is the most imperative duty now confronting the city authorities. Fort Wayne has been quibbling with the garbage disposal problem for years, and the way to finally solve it is to make a start. Likewise, the time to start is now. Let there be curtailment of expense elsewhere if need be, but lay the foundation for the garbage disposal system fund.

The Daughters of American Revolution are appropriately observing today the centennial anniversary of the raising of the siege of old Fort Wayne. With surroundings so rich in notable pioneer history, Fort Wayne might well take cognizance of these anniversaries in a manner that would not only be notable but would give the oncoming generations a closer familiarity with the important part played by Fort Wayne as a pioneer outpost in the development of the great Northwest Territory.

With the beeves in the Chicago market selling at $10.90 per hundred pounds one is furnished with a pretty fair grade of rivalry to the altitude attained by Aviator Vedrines in his airship performance at the Illinois metropolis but a few days previously. And in the face of the prediction that we will shortly see the 11-cent price for cattle on foot, the computation of the price of a beef-steak to the consumer is clearly going to be a case for higher mathematics.

One peculiar outcome of the recent Maine election is that republicans, democrats and progressives have all been heard from and all declare themselves pleased at the indications—whatever they may be able to list in that category. 'Twas not always thus.

Admitting that torn-up streets and sidewalks are a tremendous tax upon the patience of those who have to use them, let us not overlook the fact that each individual instance is a step toward the completed improvements which everybody will endorse after it is all over.

HOW MAINE WENT.

(New York World.)

There is cold comfort in the Maine election returns for any party.

The defeat of Gov. Plaisted by the Taft-Roosevelt coalition is a democratic disappointment. But the adverse plurality is so small that it is certain to disappear in the November elections when the partnership is dissolved and there are three presidential tickets in the field.

The situation in Maine differed greatly from the situation in Vermont. In Vermont, which has an overwhelming republican majority, the Roosevelt party niminated a straight ticket and made a hard fight for the offices. In Maine, which elected a democratic governor and a democratic legislature in 1910, the Roosevelt republicans joined with the Taft republicans to regain possession of the state patronage. The Roosevelt saints had no compunctions of conscience whatever about allying themselves with the Taft burglars. Mr. Roosevelt kept out of Maine. His supporters said nothing abainst Mr. Taft's during the campaign and Mr. Taft's supporters said nothing against Mr. Roosevelt. The cohesive power of 400 state jobs overcame all republican dissension.

In November, however, both factions of the republican party will be fighting for the organization and the spoils. The total republican vote cast yesterday is big enough to carry the state when it is consolidated, but when it is divided between Roosevelt and Taft, each republican faction is a hopeless minority and Maine's six electoral votes will be cast for Wilson.

One thing more is demonstrated by the Maine returns: The republican party is much stronger than had been supposed. Popular disgust with it, especially in the east, is far less aggressive than it ought to be. The Maine election indicates that if Mr. Roosevelt had not had an overwhelming ambition to be the only president ever elected to a third term, the outlook for republican success this fall would have been far brighter than any of us believed.

WHERE INDIANA LEADS.

[Indianapolis Star.]

Just as the International Prison congress in 1910 gave its approval to our American reformatory system forty years after the American Prison association adopted it as a part of its program, so Europe is now beginning to advocate the establishment of separate women's prisons, which was done in Indiana forty years ago. Our Indiana readers will be interested in the press dispatches from Berlin that "a novel experiment in penology is about to be made by the Prussian authorities, who will open a woman's prison managed exclusively by women." The Indiana Woman's prison is the first separate prison for women established in America, if not in the world. A high tribute was paid to its work and to its clean, sanitary and orderly condition by foreign members of the International Prison congress two years ago, when they visited it. Other women's prisons modeled after ours have since been built in Massachusetts and Ontario and a reformatory for young women in New York. Legislative action looking to similar institutions has recently been taken in Ohio and New Jersey.

Another step that has been taken by this state has been taken by no other state and no other country. It is to place its woman's prison in Indianapolis and its girls' school at Clermont entirely under the control of women. Not only the superintendent and officials, but the board of trustees are all women. It has been a difficult thing sometimes to keep the law requiring it on the statute books. One legislature after another in recent years has sought to change it so as to require men upon these boards. To the board of state charities more than to any other one agency is due the credit for the law organizing the girls' school and in keeping both these institutions wholly in charge of women, as they should be.

There is another thing which has been done by Indiana for unfortunate women and in which the state is leading. The legislature established, in connection with our woman's prison a state workhouse for short-term or jail prisoners. This is the first workhouse exclusively for women prisoners to be established in this country. All women who are now sentenced to jail may be sent to it. No woman need serve sentence in any county jail in this state. Those who in any degree appreciate the terrible evils of our county jail system will appreciate what an important advance for human welfare this is. It indicates something of what can be done by similar state institutions for male offenders, such as state penal farms.

SEPTEMBER.

(Kansas City Times.)

Concerning heat, September helps the optimist; it adds to the lamentations of the pessimist. "It can't last much longer," says the hopeful one. "When will this cruel war be over?" asks the Jeremiah. "It is good to 'make' the corn against the frost," continues the optimist. "The fag end of a hot spell gets on my nerves," complains the pessimist. Still concerning heat, September is a "border state." The south and the north meet in it. In the beginning the south has the best of it; in the end the north wins. Concerning heat, September plays no favorites. At times it comforts those who say that the summer months are June, July and August. At others it upholds the almanac with its summer solstice holding the fort to the 21st. This appears to be one of "the others." But you never can tell. That's one of the glories of September.

UMBRELLA TO WARD BULLETS.

Shooting Affray on Crowded Street Takes Funny Turn.

Pottsville, Pa., Sept. 12.—A laughable turn was given a shooting on a crowded street here, when Broma Genor, to save himself from the bullets of C. L. Larosa, raised an umbrella, put it over his head and shoulders for protection and ran away to a point out of pistol range. The shooting was the result of a grudge. Larosa having threatened to kill his victim on sight. Larosa was promptly arrested and sent to prison by Justice F. S. Freiler.

Weak, Weary Women

Learn the Cause of Daily Woes and End Them.

When the back aches and throbs,
When housework is torture,
When night brings no rest nor sleep,
When urinary disorders set in,
Women's lot is a weary one.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Have proved their worth in Fort Wayne.

This is one Fort Wayne Woman's testimony.

Mrs. Bertha Hayes, 817 St. Mary's Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills some time ago and they did me more good than anything else I had ever tried. A friend noticed that I was suffering from a lame back and advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I noticed great improvement from the first and before long I was permanently cured. My advice to anyone who has kidney complaint is to use Doan's Kidney Pills."

TURNERS ELECT DELEGATES.

Men's Classes to Give Several Entertainments This Season.

The Fort Wayne Turner society, in session Wednesday night, elected delegates to the German Alliance as follows: William Barth, Robert Staack, Richard Daenell, Herman Mackwitz, William Freuchtenicht, Karl Kaiser, Victor Kaltoyer, Leonard Brandt, Eugene Troendle, Emil Haberkorn, Gustav Kedehum, Alfred Stephan, Paul Machtigal, Max Stern, Max Irmscher, Robert Stein, Emil Weisbach, Karl Schindler, Herman Korte, Adolph Roggen, John Koch, Adam Reinhart, Arthur Stubnatzi, Edward Pester, jr., and Herman Hoppe.

Eight new members were admitted into the society and six applications for membership were received. The men's classes were given permission to give a number of entertainments during the season, the proceeds of which are to be used in defraying expenses of the team to be sent to the national turnfest at Denver, Col., next year.

Diplomas were distributed to those who won prizes at the turnfest held in June at Indianapolis. Those who received diplomas are: Charles E. Leuenberger, Lawrence Tuttle, William Moench, Albert Wefel, Karl Schindler and William Barth, jr.

MAN HAS PATCHED UP BRAIN.

Doctors Succeed in Restoring Patient Who Lost Cerebral Tissue.

New York, Sept. 12.—Surgeons of St. Joseph's hospital, Yonkers, proudly announce that John Martin, whose skull was badly fractured, is recovering and will live with part of his brain missing. Martin is 28 years old. He was found unconscious on the New York Central tracks four weeks ago. His skull was badly mashed in at the forehead. Dr. Mendelsohn and Dr. Lopez, who operated upon him, found that several bits of brain tissue had been torn away and were lost through the opening in the skull. They did not believe he could live twenty-four hours, but they set to work delicately mending the torn tissues and patching the broken bones. Martin remained in a semi-conscious state for two weeks, only regaining his senses for a few minutes at long intervals. His condition has steadily improved during the past three days and he is now conscious most of the time. His mind is somewhat affected, but the doctors believe the defect is only temporary. His principal fault is lack of memory, which he will regain when he recovers his strength, the doctors say. Martin says that some one threw him off a passenger train. His complete recovery is now almost certain and seems a miracle, as he has lost part of his brain and a large section of his skull is now replaced by a plate.

In the recent automobile race around Sicily the only car that endured the jolting over the bad roads without a broken spring or loosened screw was of American make.

Nature's Hair Restorer

Restores Gray Hair to Natural Color

Sulphur is a Natural Element of the Hair

When there is not a sufficient amount of sulphur in the hair, it loses its life, color and strength, turns gray, and falls out. There are many forms of sulphur, but only one kind that is suitable for treatment of the hair and scalp, and that is the kind used in preparing WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY.

We Have the Secret, and We Give You the Benefit of It at an Exceedingly Low Price

BALDNESS CURED

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair, and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

IN THE CITY'S CHURCHES

REV. DR. SELL IN CITY.

Former Plymouth Pastor Now Located at Jacksonville, Fla.

Rev. Dr. Henry T. Sell, former pastor of Plymouth Congregational church, with Mrs. Sell, was in the city on business and visiting his former parishoners today. Dr. Sell is the pastor of the leading Congregational church at Jacksonville, Fla., and his congregation is at the present time engaged in the erection of a splendid edifice costing $100,000, in the heart of the city. The building will be modern in every way, equipped with gymnasiums and various departments for modern church work.

"We are equipped," said Dr. Sell today, "with apparatus and equipment for the use of motion pictures in some of our week-day evening services and will begin their use once each week, presenting historic and biblical subjects. My congregation is characterized by northern enterprise, which indeed accounts largely for the progress of Jacksonville during the past few years. We are most happily located in Jacksonville and the prospect for service is most excellent. My congregation is made up largely of enterprising business men who consider that the equipment of a church is just as necessary as the equipment of their business offices. Hence, they have included an automobile for the use of the pastor, a piece of equipment which, they say, is just as necessary as the pews in our auditorium."

Dr. and Mrs. Sell left this morning for Chicago.

IS AT NORTH MANCHESTER.

Rev. G. F. Byrer Attending Conference of the U. B. Church.

The sixty-ninth annual meeting of the St. Joseph conference of the United Brethren in Christ is in session this week at North Manchester. It is being attended by the Rev. G. F. Byrer, of this city, the pastor of the Calvary U. B. church, who sends The Sentinel an account of the proceedings. The sessions began Tuesday evening, the opening sermon being preached by Rev. A. R. Smith, of Kokomo. Bishop A. M. Matthews, of Chicago, is presiding, and Wednesday morning delivered an address on the theme, "The Winning Church," which he said is the one that is evangelistic in its work, is a social church, an enthusiastic church, working members and a good pastor. The sessions continue over Sunday.

OUT EARLR TO SEE BIG FAIR

traffic on the line and he soon had it in good running order and was forced to put in all his reserve cars and men to take care of the people bent on attending the big show.

Trains on the Nickel Plate brought in people from all along the line and this helped swell the attendance. Nickel Plate day is an institution of the fair and it was postponed one day this year because it was believed that more people could be induced to attend on Thursday.

All along the pike the concession people were open early for the rush of business they expected and a couple of hours earlier than usual they were ready to take care of those who wanted to see the attractions in time to give their attention to the races of the afternoon.

Aside from the din made by the spielers and barkers who were in action half a hundred mechanical noise-making devices added to the babel of the pike and by noon everybody was doing a good business and all seemed satisfied.

Helped Out the Singer.

Two years ago Roy La Pearl, who is giving concerts every day to a band accompaniment came to Fort Wayne and sought employment at the fair. At that time opportunity offered itself to Secretary P. T. Strieder to "do him a little favor" as the secretary expressed it, and he helped the singer out.

This week he was booked to play at the state fair in Syracuse, N. Y., but he offered his services here and although the Syracuse engagement was the most attractive from a financial standpoint, he remembered this little favor and he is here.

His work is attraction attention and applause. He is booked at the big meeting in Detroit and Columbus and is regarded as one of the best race track attractions in the country.

Children Expected Tomorrow.

Tomorrow the schools will close to give the children a chance to attend. This means another big crowd as there is a lot of fair enthusiasm being held in check by school duties and the youngsters in all the buildings have been faithful in attendance on the assurance that they would be given one day to see the big fair.

For the benefit of the youngsters the big stock parade will be repeated so that the best on the grounds can be viewed at one time. The Bowser plant closed yesterday but comparatively few tendance. Several big institutions closed yesterday but comparatively few of the men went to the fair.

This is due to the fact that the weather had been so hot that the men were exhausted from the long siege and they preferred to rest at home rather than attend the fair.

Straw Vote Taken.

A presidential "straw" vote taken during the morning hours by The Sentinel at the main entrance to the fairgrounds attracted considerable interest. A total of 812 votes were cast, and Woodrow Wilson, democratic nominee, led in the balloting, having a total of 336 votes. Theodore Roosevelt, progressive candidate for president, was a close second, having 293, while the republican candidate, William Howard Taft, was shown preference by only 125 voters. Eugene V. Debs, choice of the socialists, received 48 votes.

Mr. Chafin, the prohibition candidate, received 10 votes.

Nickel Plate Excursions.

Two special trains from the west on the Nickel Plate brought in 1,867 people this morning and the regular train from the east, arriving at 12:25 o'clock this afternoon brought in two car loads from the stations near Fort Wayne, bringing the total fair excursionists handled by the Nickel Plate during the day up to over 2,000. Traveling Passenger Agent F. P. Parnin estimates the number of people brought in over the Nickel Plate so far during the fair at upwards of 3,000.

Miss Clara Reinkensmeier announces her opening for Thursday, Sept. 12. 2026 Broadway. Everybody welcome. ...7-10-11

IT'S A GOOD GAME, BUT IT AIN'T WAR, AN IT DON'T PROVE NOTHIN'"

ON THE FIRING LINE IN A THEORETICAL BATTLE—THE SOLDIERS ARE FIRING, BUT THERE'S NO SMOKE BECAUSE THEY ARE USING SMOKELESS POWDER—"INJURED" SOLDIERS.

Ex-Private Blair, Remembering the Horrors of the Great Civil War, Tells What He Thinks of Uncle Sam's Recent Army Maneuvers Throughout the United States, and Why Sham Fighting Fails of Its Purpose—It's a Game, Played According to Rules, But It Don't Take Into Consideration the Hot Passions of Blood-lusting Men.

(Just in case he should be called upon to slap some other nation on the wrist, Uncle Sam each year attempts to find out where he is at, on water and land. The land part of his annual "workout" has just been finished with a series of maneuvers on the Pacific coast, south of San Francisco. The regulars were called upon to defend San Francisco from a theoretical army of 12,000 men which had landed from a hostile fleet at Monterey, forced a landing and was advancing to attack San Francisco by land. And the regulars done it, b'gosh!)

"It don't prove nothin'!"

Ex-Private Joseph S. Blair whanged a gnarled right fist into a calloused left palm. With his physical eyes he was watching young soldiers playing at the game of war. With the eyes of his mind he was reviewing Fredericksburg, the Wilderness, the Bloody Angle and Gettysburg.

The invading Ders—the "Japs" they were called by some—had left their base and driven the home-defending Blues back. They had burned much powder on both sides and indulged in much scientific and technical "fighting."

The judges saw their duty and did it. The Blues, they said, were whipped, almost annihilated. They resignated this company, that battalion, as "out of action."

"It don't prove nothin'!" said ex-Private Blair. "These boys are playing a game. It's a fine echnical game, but it ain't war. The Reds ain't hot with the passion of conquest. The Blues ain't inflamed with hate. They ain't mad, or even scairt. The judges play the game accordin' to the rules. If your position is better'n my position, score one for you. But they don't take into consideration that you're fighting mad and don't give a dang how good my position is.

"I'm minded of a little go we had at Warington, Va., just before Fredericksburg. It wasn't a battle—anyhow, we didn't call it that. I was with Campany A, of the 142d Pennsylvanias. The rebs was pepperin' us from a hill.

"Now, if we'd been playin' at war, some judges with white bands on their sleeves would 'a' come along, looked at our position and scored one for the rebs.

"But our cavalry went up that hill, and our field artillery went after the cavalry. Judges would say 'tain't possible for artillery to go up a hill and over stone walls. But our artillery did it—over the walls or through 'em—slam bang! And we after 'em. Y'see, we were mad. Technically, we were licked. Accordin' to the rules, we didn't have a chance. But we went up and over that hill like fury, and we chased the rebs down the other side. And we licked 'em.

"One day last week," said Blair, with seeming irrelevance, "I cut my thumb. 'Joseph,' says my wife, 'what's the matter?' 'Cut my thumb a leetle,' I says. And before you could 'a' say Jack Robinson, the whole house was runni' every which way and the family was so excited they didn't know if they was on their heads or their heels.

"I'm reminded of it by that crowd of fellers over there." Here Blair jerked his thumb in the direction of a group of khaki-clad men surrounding a soldier who had sprained his ankle.

"Then We Had Ten."

"A cut thumb or a sprained ankle is an awful thing in peace time. When the war started, my company was full strength of over a hundred. We had thirty men on the morning of the first day at Gettysburg. When the day ended we had ten!

"We had blood on our shoes—if we had shoes. Not our blood, but the blood of thousands of men. The ground was soaked with blood. We didn't think nothin' of it. If we'd thought, our hearts would have broken.

"We didn't think of food. Here these soldiers complain—and I don't blame 'em—because they have to eat sowbelly instead of lamb chops and green peas. We just banged away and banged away and when our rifles got too hot to handle, we threw 'em away and picked up cool ones from the stiff hands of dead men.

"And all around us were dead and dying men. Some of the dying envied the dead and called on us to end them. But in others the love of life was strong, and they begged us to stop and help them, to give them water—for the love of God! And some of them wept like babies, and some moaned, and some screamed. And some of them gritted their teeth and died. And we went right on banging away, payin' no attention to 'em.

"There is a picture in my mind this minit. A picture of a boy a-swayin' and grinnin', an awful hole in his side. Then he doubled up like a jack-knife.

"It wasn't no technical game at Gettysburg. There wasn't no judges to decide which side was licked. We weren't scorin' points. We were fighting. We fought from daylight till dark, and then we laid down on the blood-soaked ground and slept like children—sound, dreamless sleep—with the groans of the wounded for our lullaby.

"This game is all right. It's good exercise. It teaches the boys a lot. It's fun, too. But it ain't war."

"Your candid opinion, then"—

"Is that it don't prove nothin'!"

HAS LOCHINVAR OUTCLASSED.

Young Virginian Wins Bride in Sensational Fashion.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 12.—Lochinvar himself couldn't have won a bride in more sensational fashion than Arthur Hagey did here late yesterday, but instead of a charger, Hagey used an automobile, a revolver and a party of friends.

Sixteen-year-old Myrtle Moore's father objected to her marriage with Hagey, and after frustrating an elopement Monday night sent Myrtle off to school. Later a party of Hagey's friends drove up to the seminary and sped Miss Moore away to a cross road where they transferred her to a buggy and sent her to Johnson City, Tenn., while the motor car continued to Abingdon, Va.

At Abingdon an officer, warned by the irate father, shot the tires practically off the automobile before he discovered Miss Moore was not in it. Meanwhile Arthur and Myrtle were married in Johnson City.

Street Railway System Completely Tied Up By Strike.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 12.—Duluth citizens walked to work today for the strike of street car employes had effectually tied up the system and not a car was running. Despite false stories of fatal disturbance last night, there was no rioting. The company officials say there is nothing to arbitrate but city officials and civic societies are heading a movement for arbitration.

ALL SHOULD HELP TO CORRECT EVIL

Marshall Shuns Politics in His Address at the Fair.

URGES BETTER LIFE

When Governor Thomas R. Marshall comes into the Twelfth congressional district to deliver a public address, he usually endeavors to keep politics as far from mind as possible, and in his speech Wednesday afternoon before an audience of thousands who were attending the Fort Wayne fair he followed this custom.

"The people of Allen county and this part of Indiana suffered political speeches from me a few years ago. They all know my politics. Therefore, when I come to Allen county now I never deliver political speeches. This is my home, or the parlor of my home. Whitley county was my kitchen and dining-room for many years."

Instead of talking politics and the national campaign issues, the democratic nominee for the vice-presidency discussed the ideal life. He insisted that the people should not be content with the successes of today, but should work for a better tomorrow.

The governor was introduced by Hon. Samuel M. Foster as the next vice-president of the United States, and thunderous applause arose as Indiana's favorite son arose and smiled to the enthusiastic welcome tendered him.

An Imperfect World.

"This world is far from perfect," declared Mr. Marshall, "and you and I have little or no conception of what a perfect world would be. I believe that the Almighty intends for you and me to employ our labor and talents for the correction of some of its evils."

In picturing the difference between professions and trades, the governor drove home many plain truths. He said:

"I am the son of an old-fashioned doctor. When I was a boy about all I knew was that chills and fever constituted the chief ailments suffered by the people of Indiana. I knew that when the people were not 'shaking' they were burning up.

"Since that time the physicians have discovered that there is such a thing as appendicitis and they proceeded to cut our insides out, and last but not least, they learned that hookworms were numerous to make every one of you as lazy as I am. If a doctor calls at your home to attend you, and after looking carefully at your furniture and going to the bank to find out the size of your deposits, later decides to cut out your appendix, that is a trade, not a profession."

Must Teach Young Men.

Governor Marshall declared that of the 2,700,000 people living in Indiana, 2,000,000 reside in the cities, villages and hamlets and pointed out that something must be done to teach the young men and women that agriculture is as great a profession as the law or the ministry.

"Do you know," inquired the executive, "that Indiana is the imperial state of the union? This state has been in the forefront in every great reform of the world. It has many fine educational institutions and other features too numerous to enumerate.

"The question confronting the young man today is not how to make a speech, but how to make a living and get a blushing Hoosier girl for his bride."

Governor Marshall paid tribute to Purdue university by declaring it the greatest technical institution in the commonwealth and asserted that he was certain that the college at the fair here, is encouraging not only extensive but intensive farming.

"I say," continued the governor, returning to the matter of trades and professions, "a man can dig a ditch and be following a profession. An Irishman in Whitley county was digging a ditch one day, and after having completed all the work started in to take up the tile he had just covered. 'What are you doing that for?' I asked him, and he replied: 'It was not done accordin' to spicifications.' I then asked him if that would not do as it would serve to carry off all the water. 'No one would know the difference,' I said. 'Yes, but I would,' the Irishman replied.

"From the university of life I conferred upon that Irishman the degree of D. D. (Doctor of Ditches)," said the governor.

FOR MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

said there was not a single sign of water in the lungs and no congestion.

Only expert knowledge was required to do the trick, said Dr. Schultze, who then asked Judge Royce to permit him to show how it could be done. Quickly the surgeon pressed a point on the judge's throat. The judge gasped and not long after that issued the warrant. It was planned to arraign Gibson before Judge Royce tomorrow.

Trailed by Detectives.

Gibson came to this city this morning trailed by private detectives and a squad of newspaper men. As he walked through the streets to his office a crowd of several hundred people followed him. Gibson with a private detective, went to Gibson's office and awaited the arrival of Deputy Sheriff DeGraw. Gibson said to the detective: "I should like very much to go to Middletown and surrender myself if it can be arranged. Cannot you see the sheriff and have this thing done in a gentlemanly way as possible?"

The private detective said he would talk to Deputy Sheriff DeGraw when he arrived. The detective waited for some time for DeGraw to appear and then leaving Gibson in the company of the newspaper men remarked: "I guess I'll have to go and hunt up DeGraw; he seems to be lost."

JACK JOHNSON'S WIFE A SUICIDE

White Woman Who Married Negro Pugilist Fires Bullet Into Brain.

SHE WAS DESPONDENT

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—Mrs. Jack Johnson, white wife of the world's champion heavyweight pugilist, who shot herself through the head last night, died at 3:30 o'clock this morning. She did not regain consciousness.

The pugilist's wife was 31 years of age, the daughter of Mrs. David Terry, of Brooklyn, and the divorced wife of Clarence Duryea, a well-known New York turfman.

"God pity a poor woman who is lonely," almost her last words, indicated that the ostracism which followed her marriage to the negro prize fighter was the cause of her suicide.

Mrs. Johnson's act was attributed by her husband to a nervous attack, one of a series from which she had suffered for two years. Mrs. Johnson is also said to have shown symptoms of tuberculosis. She was to have left for Las Vegas, N. M., last night, but decided to abandon the trip. Mrs. Johnson did not regain consciousness after the shooting. Her husband and seven other persons, mainly relatives of the negro pugilist, were at her bedside when she died. A Roman Catholic priest administered extreme unction.

She has been in ill health for a year and was despondent. Her condition was such for several months that Johnson, acting on the advice of her physician, employed two maids to watch her continually.

Johnson, in the hope that a change of climate would benefit her, had planned to leave last night with his wife for Las Vegas, N. M. He went down town to purchase the tickets and when he returned he found her on the floor with a bullet wound in her head.

Mrs. Johnson was removed to a hospital where an examination revealed that the bullet had passed through her head. According to the two maids who were in the room when she shot herself she was seized with a fit of despondency shortly after her husband left to procure the railroad tickets for New Mexico.

She spoke of dying and repeated several times that she never expected to recover from the nervous prostration from which she suffered. While the maids' attention was diverted Mrs. Johnson is said to have opened a drawer in a cabinet and seized a revolver. She pointed it at her head but before she could pull the trigger, the maids seized her. She fought desperately to keep the pistol and in the struggle pointed it at her head and pulled the trigger.

She fell unconscious and the maids sent for Johnson's mother and sister who live several blocks away. Before they arrived Johnson returned and hurried her to a hospital. He spent the night at her bedside.

Mayor, Priest and Chaplain of the Second, Father Dunigan is "Making Good" at Each.

FATHER PATRICK R. DUNIGAN.

Last spring Lapeer, Mich., chose a Catholic priest for mayor. Many well-meaning folks, including the Rev. Father Patrick R. Dunigan, were doubtful about how it would work out.

Father Dunigan didn't want the nomination, and he went out in the country to tell farmers about good roads on the day of election.

But 380 Protestants joined with Lapeer's thirty-one Catholic voters and gave the Michigan city of 4,000 the first American Catholic priest-mayor. And now Lapeer is well satisfied with its mayor—he has certainly made good.

He has proved to the more fussy Lapeerites that a man may be a good city executive and a good Catholic priest at the same time. Father Dunigan has been mayor at the city hall and priest at the church.

He is also organizer of Lapeer's commercial club, chairman of its executive committee and chaplain of the Second regiment, Michigan National guard.

In the military camp Father Dunigan is respected and loved as a big, hearty, sympathetic, red-blooded man always is. He cares for his own horse; pitches his own tent; fills his own lamp; makes his own bed; splits his own wood, and asks no favors from anybody. When the regiment went into camp this summer he traveled with his horse in a freight car, refusing the services of a private. That's why he is the most popular man in the Second.

Citizens subscribed $6,000 unsolicited to pay off a debt on Father Dunigan's church. His parishioners are loud in their praises of him as a priest; his soldiers couldn't be pried away from him with a battle ax, and the rest of the Lapeerites are sure he's the best mayor they ever had.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

All you need is a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine"—Hair gets lustrous, fluffy and abundant at once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is straggly, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine destroys every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Society

Miss Katherine Freese was the honor guest at a company of her special friends, who sewed and visited at the Country club this afternoon with Mrs. Walter Bauer, of Chicago, who is visiting her mother, Mrs. E. W. Cook, as the hostess. The big porch of the club house was decorated with field and garden flowers. Big baskets and tall vases were filled with marigolds, yellow daisies and goldenrod and the table for refreshments showed the same predominating color of yellow. A large basket filled with daisies occupied the center of the table. There were dainty place cards of the same design and a yellow basket filled with nuts at each plate. At the place for Miss Freese stood a pretty bridal doll, her attire telling the story of a pre-nuptial affair. The guests showered Miss Freese with various pretty gifts and everyone present passed a particularly delightful time.

ON THE CARE OF YOUR TEETH.

By Billie Burke.

THE FIRST WORD—There is a health principle behind every womanly beauty.

A man friend of mine says that he has never been attracted to a woman unless she had pretty teeth, and would not marry one unless her teeth were perfect.

"I could not sit across the breakfast table from a woman and keep good-natured if she showed ugly teeth when she smiled at me," he said, seriously.

There is something very wholesome about beautiful teeth. They make a mouth much more kissable. They make a woman look clean and sweet.

With the strides we have been making in dental hygiene and mouth sanitation there is no reason why any girl should have ugly teeth today, and certainly every mother should attend to her children's teeth from the time they come.

Many people, and in fact some old-fashioned physicians, seem to regard the mouth and its condition as of little consequence. They will take remedies for indigestion, frazzeled nerves, infected throats and many other ills when the principal cause of all their trouble is decaying teeth and unclean mouths.

If we blind mortals would only remember that no part of our physical structure can be neglected while we retain health and beauty we would pay fewer doctor bills, besides adding to the sum of human beauty.

The mouth is the gateway through which all nourishment of the body must pass. In it, for the maintenance of health, the first and most important step in digestion takes place—in fact the only step over which the individual has any control.

The first requisite in cleaning the mouth and teeth is a small brush of moderately stiff bristles. Most brushes are too large. Different kinds of brushes should be used by those having fat and thin faces. The girl who is fat should have a brush the bristle end of which tapers toward the point. With this kind of a brush she can get behind her plump cheeks easily and make all her back teeth clean and sweet.

Teeth should be brushed twice daily, always up and down, never across. This allows the bristles to pass between the teeth and hardens the gums. The mouth should then be opened and the grinding surface of the teeth brushed vigorously. Then, by tilting the brush, clean the surface next the tongue. Next extend the tongue and brush it.

Before you brush your teeth pass a waxed silk cord between them to dislodge any bits of food that may be there. Care must be used not to make the gums bleed.

A good tooth paste or powder must be used each day and once a week a mild soap can be used. Occasionally the teeth can be brushed with a solution of peroxide of hydrogen. Be sure and rinse the teeth thoroughly after each brushing.

Twice a year have them looked after by a good dentist. This will be a saving, as neglected teeth mean big dentist bills and much discomfort.

Never have your front teeth filled with gold. Have a porcelain filling that matches the teeth in color.

Don't immediately follow cold food in your mouth with hot, nor hot with cold.

Keep your stomach in good condition and the intestinal canal open, as this has much to do with the condition of your teeth.

JUST ONE LAST WORD—Thinking beautiful thoughts helps you to be beautiful and making yourself beautiful will enhance your beautiful thoughts.

PERFECTION BISCUIT COMPANY

A PRACTICAL CHAT ON CANNING.

BY CYNTHIA GREY.

Canning fruit is preserving sterilized fruit in sterlized, air-tight jars, the sugar being added to give sweetness.

The secret of all canning is cleanliness and effective elimination of all air. Dirt germs cause fermentation.

Canning is the heaviest work of the summer for the average housewife. The best way to make it easy is to take great care in the preliminaries.

There are a few general points which should be remembered:

Imperfect fruit should not be canned.

New rubbers should be used each season.

Care should be taken that rims of covers are not bent.

The fruit should be cooked in porcelain or granite-iron kettle.

Fruit should be fresh, firm, of good quality and not over-ripe. It should be put up boiling hot and the jars filled to the brim. Fruit should be put up at the height of the season. If has then ripened naturally and has not been bruised by long transportation.

Granite or porcelain-lined kettles which are broad mouthed will be found best to cook the fruit in. A small, sharp pointed knife for paring; also an old silver-plated knife ground to a fine edge will be convenient for fruit which steel may discolor. A wooden and a wire spoon, a sieve, some cheese cloth, a wooden masher and a colander are useful aids.

Quart and pint glass jars, with large tops, are the best for general use. If you are obliged to use common large-mouthed bottles with corks, steam the corks and pare them to a close fit. Drive them in securely after the fruit is in the bottle. Cover the corks with paraffine. As they cool, dip the mouth of the bottles into the melted wax.

A few jars of the two-quart size will be handy if some of the large fruit is to be canned whole. Use granulated sugar.

If fruit must be peeled, use a silver knife to prevent staining the pronus. Or if a steel knife is necessary, dip it in boiling water after every few strokes. The pealing of pears, apples and peaches is an art in itself, and is better when performed with a sharp knife.

Handle lightly, so that the fruit will not bruise.

Throw whole fruits into cold water as soon as the skin is removed. This is a good plan with peaches also that have been halved and stoned. This method serves to retain their original color and prevents the unsightly "browning" so often seen when this precaution is neglected.

Plums require no peeling, but must be carefully selected that no bruised ones are used.

After the fruit has all been canned and put away, wait about a week, then examine it all carefully for flaws, cracks or signs of ferment. If there are any signs of ferment turn the fruit out and re-cook to use at once. It will not be successfully re-canned, however.

A JEWEL BAG.

A jewel or money bag to be slung round the neck beneath the blouse is easily made and is a useful possession for the traveler. The bag is fashioned of a strip of linen, one end of which is turned up to form a pocket and the other end turned down and shaped for the flap. A narrow edging of crochet would add to the attraction of the bag, and the initials should be embroidered on the flap.

The ribbon by which it is suspended from the neck, the initials and the edging should be all of the same color as the linen or an agreeable contrast. A chamois pocket should be tacked inside the linen one, and the bag may be fastened with a pearl button and buttonhole.

"Casey Jones" Coming.

"Casey Jones," which opens at the Majestic next Monday, Sept. 16, for three days, with Ollie Mack in the leading funmaking role under direction of Rowland and Clifford, is said to be the laughing limit; as may be inferred from the character of the song on which the show is based there is no attempt at very serious endeavor.

The aim of "Casey Jones" is to make an audience laugh until worries are forgotten and troubles die away, the company having been selected with care and the entertainers, whether in presenting the scenes of the play or in the comedy numbers, are persuading a smile to grow where a grouch may have existed and coaxing applause by merrymaking.

There is not an attraction on the road this season which has been better received everywhere. The advance report brings assurance that local theater-goers will not be disappointed in this great fun-creating conglomeration of entertaining foolishness.

MOTHERS' CHAMPION WORKS FOR POOR MOTHER'S PENSION IN EVERY STATE.

It's not much of a jump from Bibles to mothers, and so it is, perhaps, that Henry Neil, rich publisher of biblical literature, has become the greatest champion of mothers to be found in the United States today—a champion who is doing little talking and a very great deal of acting.

Neil, whom they call out in Illinois "the father of the mothers' pension act," is the first man who came to believe that every state in this union ought to pay all dependent mothers a specified sum each year upon which to rear their children, thus putting a check upon institution-bred children, who, he declares, never reach their full powers because of the lack of mother love.

"God never meant that little children should be brought up in big groups like fields of cabbages," says Neil, "else he wouldn't have given them mothers.

"Children respond to love—not to machine-made love, but to real human mother love—for which there is no substitute, not even in the most wonderful, most scientific institution in the world."

And that is the reason that Henry Neil is giving up a great deal of his money and a great deal of his time to go about the country, asking the legislatures of some forty-odd states to change their laws so as to provide pensions of indigent mothers.

"The laws which take a poor mother's babies from her, and which are now operative in nearly all our commonwealths," says Neil, "works this nation a double wrong. It reduces the value of many future citizens by running them all through a similar chopper and it wrecks the lives of their mothers as well.

"A child is an anchor to any normal woman. Take that child away from her and she has nothing to live for, to strive for. So five times out of ten, she 'goes to the bad.' And that proves not only that we ought not separate mothers and babies, but that we have absolutely no right to separate mothers and babies—that when we do so, in most instances, we are actually transgressing God's laws.

"But I'm not all up in the clouds on this thing," adds Neil, snapping his jaws. "I'm pretty practical about it, too. I have figured it all out and I have found that every state can save millions of dollars yearly by adopting my scheme as well as saving thousands of little homes yearly. Small pensions to mothers—enough to enable them to keep their flocks around them—will not, in a year, amount to nearly as much as it takes to run the various children's welfare institutions that now burden taxpayers' pocketbooks so unnecessarily.

"Indeed, I would go so far in this work as to let the state 'place,' in many cases, children who are entirely orphaned in the care of childless women and spinsters, paying for their care and keep and seeing that they get the right attention."

Neil is a big, quiet, efficient man, who thinks logically and directly. His home is in Chicago, but he is seldom in it. He hates to travel, but he goes right on doing it because, as he says, he "believes in doing what the Bible tells us."

And as he says that his eyes wander to a card that hangs above his desk, which says:

"He went about doing good."

W. R. Brown Family Reunion.

The W. R. Brown family members held their ninth annual reunion on Sunday, Sept. 8, at Robison park. The families of A. A. Brown, of Vinita, Okla., and Mrs. D. H. Simons, of Raymond, Minn., were not represented this year, otherwise there was a large attendance of relatives. A fine dinner occupied attention during the middle of the day. Officers were elected with W. D. Brown, of Huntington, as president; Mrs. J. L. Brown, Fort Wayne, vice president; E. E. Brown, Fort Wayne, secretary; A. A. Brown, Vinita, Okla., as toastmaster. No decision for time or place of the next reunion was decided upon. The families represented are descendants of W. R. Brown and Anna A. Hines, who were married in 1867. Of that marriage there are forty-three members including great-grandchildren. There have been but three deaths in the entire family and they were infants.

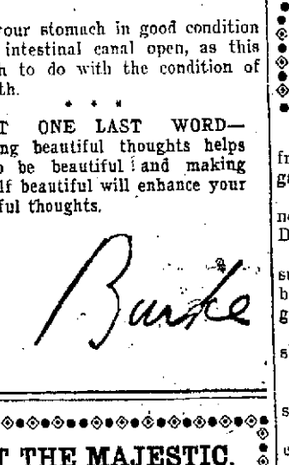

AT THE TEMPLE

Fisher and Green, who present the act "On Account of the Subway," at the Temple this week, have been together for about ten years, having started their career with a burlesque show of the earlier days, which visited this city. They keep together during the summer, when off the stage, and navigate the Mississippi river in their house boat, "The Subway." This boat is a peculiar affair and resembles somewhat the entrance to a New York subway, the lights on each side and in the front being set on posts to resemble the lamp posts of the station. The cabin part is built like a railroad coach.

They have spent several summers on the Mississippi and are now planning for their trip next summer. They are going to ship their boat through to the great lakes and run the short line through to the St. Lawrence.

Apple is Nature's Complexion Brush

BY A PHYSICIAN.

If the everyday human knew more about the value of fruits and the science of foods, the average physician would be obliged to take a smaller office and live in a cheaper house, soon.

Fruits, especially, have their medical properties.

An uncooked apple, eaten at night before retiring, and a glass of water to follow it, is one of the oldest of beauty and health prescriptions.

It prevents or relieves constipation and gives clearness to the skin. It is one of the best aids to sleep. And it directly assists the digestion of other foods.

The apple is not only one of the most nutritious fruits, but it especially recommends itself because it can be purchased a good share of the year, and in all climates.

Persons uninitiated in the mysteries of this fruit, may throw up their hands in horror, with visions of dyspepsia before them, at the mere mention of eating apples at bedtime. However, the old adage that fruit in the morning is golden; at noon silver and at night, lead, does not apply to the apple.

Because it contains more phosphoric acid in easily digested shape than any other fruits, this fruit is also a capital brain food. In a word it is an all round health aid. It excites the action of the liver, promotes sound and healthy sleep and thoroughly disinfects the mouth.

THE LOVE, ROMANCE AND TRAGEDY OF ANNIE RAFFLESON.

ANNIE RA FFLESON.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The other day a little Jewish girl, with the face of a Madonna, meeting her lover on the street, dashes vitrol in his face.

Why? "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned."

"An old story," you say. Yes—but read the sequel:

When she was arraigned in court for her act, a crime that might have sent her to the penitentiary, the judge set her free. For she told a story of love and sacrifice that brought tears to the eyes of the judge and prosecutor, and appealed to a higher law than man has made.

This is her story:

Annie Raffleson first looked Romance in the face when she was sixteen. To her father's farm in Sheboygan, Mich., came a Russian peasant boy named Abraham Milzenmacher.

He was hungry and penniless. Annie gave him food and her father gave him employment. He wore old, ill-fitting clothes, and had the slouch of the peasant, but the romantic girl looked deeper and saw strength and fineness and beauty.

"Ah, he was beautiful," she told Judge Himes. "Afterward I called him my Apollo."

Then began Annie Raffleson's six years of sacrifice.

"I loved him the moment I saw him," she said, "and I gave my life to him.

"He could not even speak English. I taught it to him. I taught him the A B C's. I taught him to read and write and figure. When his day's work on the farm was done, we would sit together by lamplight, far into the night.

"He was eager to learn, and I was so happy to help him! We went through the primary school books, and soon he was able to enter the higher grades of the country school. I still helped him with his lessons at night, and he made rapid progress.

"He loved me then. The lessons were mixed with kisses. For both of us life was full of sunshine.

"Together we planned for my Apollo's future. He was to be a physician. But I had taught him all I knew. We decided that he should go to Chicago and study in the night schools—then he was to enter the University of Chicago.

"He found Chicago lonely and hopeless. I was the inspiration of his life, he said, and without me he could do nothing. I had made of the poor immigrant an Aemrican gentleman, and I must still be at his side.

"So I left home and went to Chicago. He met me and took me in his arms and covered my eyes and lips with kisses, and we talked of the time when he should be a physician, holding up his head in the face of all men, and I should be his wife.

"I had to earn my living. By day I worked in a department store. By night I sewed.

"I starved and stinted myself, and wore threadbare clothes, and lived in a cheap little hall bedroom, and all that I could save I gave to my Apollo to pay his expenses, for he needed money when he entered the university.

"On the farm I had sold butter and eggs and sent him the money.

"I was proud of him, but for myself I had no pride. I forgot my shabby dresses and old hats and soiled gloves. I forgot all the pretty things that girls love, and was happy when I saw him dressed as well as the other students.

"For six years I gave him everything. And he told me that the long time of waiting would soon be over, and we should be married. Recently I have been putting away nickels and dimes toward buying my trousseau. I wanted my Apollo to be proud of me when I became his wife.

"Then all at once I awoke from my beautiful dream. Abraham grew cool, and began to shun me. He seemed ashamed of me. He did not love me any more. He was not grateful for what I had done for him. And then—I learned that he loved another girl—a wealthy girl—in Sheboygan.

"I did not think. I am all health. And now I hated him. I took some of my trousseau money and bought vitriol. If my Apollo was not for me, he should charm no one else. I would destroy his beauty.

"So I threw the acid in his face. My arm trembled, though, and I nearly failed.

"They say he is not hurt much. I don't know whether I care or not. My scars are deeper than Abraham's. I am so tired. I don't care about anything. I just want to forget—and to rest."

Now Annie is going back to the farm, and her mother.

BABY SICK WITH ALCOHOLISM.

Wee Child Drinks Patent Medicine With Unpleasant Results.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—The youngest alcohol patient ever recorded was taken to the North End Dispensary yesterday morning. He was Ernest Hayes, 30 months old, who drank four ounces of patent medicine containing 24 per cent alcohol. The child, with its mother, Mrs. Harvey Hayes, 4512 North Broadway, was visiting at the home of its aunt, Mrs. Gus Freese, 1502 East John avenue. While romping the child got hold of the medicine and drank it. He was unconscious when found by his aunt. Doctors at the dispensary said his condition was serious.

A PERFECT FORM

A few years ago women who were flat-chested thought that they must remain so, but now all is changed. Nature, hygiene and modern chemistry seem to have formed a mighty triune to preserve intact the beauty and charm of the Twentieth Century Woman. Newspapers and periodicals are recommending the Vaucaire treatment tablets (tablet form preferred) to build up the bust and fill out those little hollows at the base of the neck, near the shoulders. The basis of this tonic is Galega, an herb that acts immediately upon the mammary glands, stimulating and building them up.—Mme. De Le Vie.

Dear Sir—Am in receipt of your letter asking to use my letter as testimonial. Indeed, I have no objection for I really think your Vaucaire Tablets are almost magical. I can't say too much in praise of them. I have improved wonderfully in every way, especially in my female health and my nervous system. The two dollars I have spent for the Vaucaire Galega Tablets have done me more good than hundreds I have spent in the past with physicians who did me very little good, if any. I feel so well now and enjoy every moment of my life. My duties are a pleasure instead of a task. I will gladly and conscientiously recommend your Vaucaire Galega Tablets. Am enclosing money order for another box of them. Please send them at once, as I am almost out.

Very sincerely, MRS. J. M. PUGH.

Melorose Face Powder

The perfection of toilet dainties. One of the very few powders that are not harmful to the skin. Melorose improves the complexion and protects the skin from heat, cold and wind, dust, etc., as would a fine veil, particularly when dusted on the face over a small amount of Melorose Cream, removing the "shine" from the skin that makes the best groomed woman look vulgar at night, and leaves an almost transparent velvety appearance to the skin. Melorose does not "blow off" and is so fine that it does not show. Has a dainty, delightful odor suggestive of fresh flowers and tinted perfectly to suit any complexion. Melorose gives universal satisfaction to people who appreciate articles of merit.

Melorose does not chap, burn, smart the face, but rather is soothing to an irritated skin. 50c box for only.... 45c

IF YOU LIVED IN DUNMOW, ENG., COULD YOU EARN A "FLITCH?" SIDES OF BACON GO TO COUPLES THAT HAVE NOT QUARRELED FOR 366 DAYS.

COURT OF LOVE IN SESSION. THE TWO FLITCHES OF BACON HANG BESIDE THE JUDGE'S BENCH. SEATED NEAR THE JUDGE ARE MR. AND MRS. HARRY SMITH, AND NEXT TO THEM, MR. AND MRS. LEWIS F. BUTCHER, CLAIMANTS FOR THE BACON. THE LAWYER FOR THE BACON IS ADDRESSING THE COURT.

Shepherd Tells Readers of The Sentinel About Quaint Old "Court of Love" That Has Been Giving Homely Price of Domestic Peace and Happiness for 800 Years.

(By W. G. Shepherd.)

Dunmow, England, Sept. 12.—The Dunmow flitches are just two pieces of bacon, but they make your heart thrill.

I saw them hanging, one on each side of the judge's bench, during the ancient rites which are known as proceedings of the "court of love."

This "court of love" is exactly the reverse of a divorce court. Ever since the year 1111, with few interruptions, the two flitches of bacon have been given to the two couples of Dunmow who could prove that for 30 days they had not quarreled.

This year there were forty couples who claimed the bacon. For weeks the authorities of this court investigated the claims of the couples until they had narrowed down the claimants to two couples.

Then came the ceremony of the trial, when the judge sat between the two big brown and gold peces of bacon and heard the final trial.

Of course, it was all play, but sweet and tender play, in these days when happy couples are so hard to find.

On the platform, near the judge, sat the two couples. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, of Crewton, he being a postmaster, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Frank Butcher, he being a merchant of Tilty.

Near by sat the jury, composed of six young bachelors and six unmarried girls. It will be surprising if some of the members of the jury do not pair off before the next flitches are given out.

"What makes your wife so happy, if she is as happy as she says?" demanded the cross-examiner of Smith.

"Because she's an optimist. She always sees the silver lining of the black clouds," said her husband.

"I gave up smoking for her when we were married twenty-six years ago," said Smith, proudly. "I wooed her two years."

"Do you smoke now?"

"Yes. When I had my leg cut off three years ago my wife felt sorry for me, and she told me I could smoke again."

"You don't carry a latch key?"

"No. I am always home by 10 o'clock at night. I've never once, in all the years, been home later than that."

"Do you think your wife as pretty today as she was when you married her?"

"Prettier. I admire her more because I know her better."

When Mrs. Smith took the stand she said that the secret of her happiness was not optimism, as her husband had declared. Without any children it would have been impossible for her to have been optimistic or happy.

"We've got eight children," she said, with downcast eyes, "and they've made us both happy. They've made our home a little heaven."

The jury of bachelors and girls refused to leave the box after hearing Mrs. Smith's statement. They voted one flitch of bacon to Mr. and Mrs. Smith without a moment's hesitation.

Mr. and Mrs. Butcher declared they had not had a cross word in their twenty years of married life.

The jury was unanimously in favor of Mr. and Mrs. Butcher.

Then, suddenly, all the play faded away, for the choir boys sang sweetly a grand old wedding song, "Oh, Land of Hope and Glory." There were some tears and some smiles, and many solemn faces, for there was something in the scene that held out hope of the day when every marriage ceremony, in every land, would mean a dream of happiness come true.

A Distinction With a Difference

YOU may not always get what you pay for. It takes a good judge of values to do that, but if there is one sure rule in business it is—you pay for all you get. You may not be able to see the difference between engines of similar appearance at different prices, but if you buy from a reputable firm you may be sure the difference in quality is there.

I H C Oil and Gasoline Engines

cost more than some others because they are more carefully made, and more thoroughly tested. Skillful designing, better material, better workmanship, more careful assembling, and more thorough testing, tell in the long run. Given equal care an I H C engine costs less per year of service than any other engine you can buy. If an I H C engine is given all the work it will do, pumping, sawing wood, running the grindstone, feed grinder, hay press, silage cutter, repair shop machines, cream separator, churn, washing machine, etc., etc., it will pay for itself in a very short time in money and labor saved.

I H C engines are made in every style—horizontal, vertical, air and water-cooled, stationary, portable and mounted on skids, to operate on gas, gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, distillate or alcohol, in sizes from 1 to 50 H. P. Kerosene-gasoline tractors, 12, 15, 20, 25 and 45-H P.

For a Soft, Velvety Skin and Bright, Fluffy Hair

Fall winds have a peculiarly blighting effect on the delicate skin and proper safeguards should be used to protect it. A highly meritorious lotion can be made at little cost by dissolving 4 ounces spurmax in either ½ pint witch hazel or hot water and adding 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. This dries quickly, is invisible when on and imparts that soft tint of healthy maidenhood to the skin. The spurmax lotion serves every purpose of powder and makes clear and beautiful any complexion.

"Stringy," unmanageable hair is the result of improper shampooing. A very satisfactory shampoo for fall is prepared by dissolving a teaspoonful canthrox in a cup hot water. This makes a rich, bland lather that removes every atom of dust, dandruff and excess oil and after rinsing, the hair dries quickly with a rich even color and gloss. Canthrox shampoos make the hair fluffy and encourage a thick, long growth.

BRESNAHAN WILL MANAGE IN 1913

Also in 1914 and Longer According to Real Boss of Cardinals.

OWNER HAS HER SAY

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—Those romancers who traded Manager Bresnahan to Brooklyn for Rucker and Wheat or sold him to Cincinnati for the price of a beef stew made one fatal mistake. They didn't consult Mrs. Helene Britton. And now comes Mrs. Britton, exercising her prerogative as owner, and says:

"Mr. Bresnahan will manage my club (she controls 397 of the 1,000 shares) next year."

That should spike those wild rumors which have been going the rounds since the excessively hot weather set in. Indeed, there's only one explanation for this Bresnahan trade-mark. That's the heat.

It's even hotter in Cincinnati than it is in St. Louis. Umpire Jim Johnstone, who worked in Rhineland last week, says it was 104 in the shade of the grand stand. Therefore the reason for that yarn about Lawyer Lon Hocker selling Bresnahan to Garry Herrmann is obvious. It's the heat.

Mrs. Britton granted an audience to the local sport writers en banc. After a battery of high-powered electric fans had been trained on the excited propounders of baseball gossip, Mrs. Britton coolly announced herself ready to answer all questions.

"Will Mr. Bresnahan be retained as manager?" was the opening shot.

The defendant smiled.

"Of course he will," she replied. And then she laughed. "I've never considered any one else for manager and I'm at a loss to know why you should be in doubt about the security of Bresnahan's position."

"Well, how about this Brooklyn trade?" continued the pleader for the scribes.

"What trade is that?" asked the cross-examined.

Then the cross-examiner took a new tack.

"Has Mr. J. C. Jones resigned as president?" he demanded.

Mrs. Britton suppressed a smile, much to the chagrin of the plaintiff's attorney, who seemed worried, then said:

"Not that I know of. He has been here nearly every day. He saw today's game and is taking a great deal of interest in the filing of drafts. You know the drafting season is on and we must put in drafts real soon. Mr. Jones devotes a good deal of time to the club and if his successor has been named I'm at a loss to know who he is. I confidently expect Mr. Jones to continue as president."

Mrs. Britton then volunteered to recite her side of the Bresnahan case without being questioned, agreeing to tell all.

"I have had less to say than anyone connected with this club, I believe," began Mrs. Britton, "but really I never have had an opportunity to say much. Then again there wasn't much to be said. However, I should like to set at rest all these disquieting rumors of Mr. Bresnahan being traded.

"I never have considered disposing of Bresnahan's contract. The thought never was entertained by me, and I can truthfully say that I believe it never will. My business dealings with Bresnahan always have been pleasant. I regard him as a great baseball man—a man who should eventually give St. Louis a winner.

"And that's my ambition. I want to have a pennant-winning team and I want Bresnahan to manage that team. I have no intention of selling my club until I do get a winner—and then, of course, I won't sell it.

"I have blocked only one trade—that of Huggins and Ellis for Mitchell and McDonald. I never heard of that first trade with Cincinnati, only what I read in the papers. I refused to permit the Huggins-Mitchell deal because I thought we were not getting a good price for the assets we were giving up."

GOOD RACE CARD ON CLOSING DAY

Fair Association Held Some Great Things in Reserve for Friday.

WEATHER IS IDEAL

Directors of the Fort Wayne Fair in making up their race card did not tumble all the good things into the early part of the week and as a result they have three events for tomorrow with the very pick of the horses on the grounds entered and expect to close the light harness racing with some of the best time of the meeting.

There is a free-for-all trot down on the card that will attract the owners and it was reserved just to insure that the speediest horses in the stables would be held up here to finish the week before shipping to the next stand.

Never in the history of Allen county have racing conditions been as favorable as they are now. The drop in temperature has put the horses on their metal and the track is as fast as one can be made.

A delay occurred yesterday that prevented finishing up the card for the day and it was put on this afternoon. Derby Boy had no trouble taking the Centlivre Brewing company's stake with Katherine R. second. In the second race Mat Stevens with Dr. Czar crowded Nellie Gray every step of the route and finished second in each of the three heats. The amateur race was not finished and the two heats that were run off went to John J. O'Ryan's Diamond Dick. The summaries:

2:14 trot, Centlivre Brewing stake; purse $1,000:

Derby Boy, b. g., by Norval (McCarty)	1	1	1

Football Tips for Boys

(This is the first of the Daily Sentinel's stories intended to instruct the boys of Fort Wayne in the fundamentals of football.

Thrumph! Yes, that was a football. College teams have been at work, hard, and schools and athletic clubs are planning schedules and getting out playing material.

It promises to be a big season, for the great fall game, and indications are that more and more will be playing it.

The "more and more" will come from the public schools and athletic clubs. From experience as coach and official with such teams, the writer has concluded that the ONE reason why football has not long since become popular is that boys in grade schools and clubs do not KNOW the game, either in spirit or letter.

THE CAPTAIN SEES THAT THE PLAYERS PRACTICE CONSCIENTIOUSLY.

The part of football written up in the papers, as a rule, is the roughness and the strategy, yet the REAL game lies in little details of the work of the individual players.

The VERY FIRST thing the youthful football player MUST do, is to master the rules; every player should be able to answer any question pertaining to the game without hesitation. F. H. Yost, the Michigan coach, has said that much of his past success was due to the "quiz classes" held frequently, when training. These are merely interrogations by Yost, upon the rules, and every varsity man at Michigan MUST be letter perfect.

The rules this year are about the same as in 1911, with a few minor changes to simplify them, and a little study and discussion with other players will get the rudiments into every boy's head. A quiz class and study will do the rest.

Many wonder why college teams spend so many weeks wrestling with the dummy, falling on and catching the ball, etc. This is what MAKES varsity teams. The players are learning things which must be second nature to them when the games begin. Charging, blocking, tackling and handling the ball are the backbone of football.

When Sam White smashed through the Harvard line at Princeton last fall and grabbed a fumbled ball, he didn't pause and ask himself what to do next. He had that ball in his arms and was off for the Red goal before he had time to think of anything. He acted mechanically, because he had been trained for weeks to do just as he did.

Harvard said it was a fluke, that their team was bigger, stronger and better than Princeton, but Harvard failed in a fundamental when a back fumbled and White was there to take advantage of the situation—which is fotball and sport.

So, boys, learn the fundamentals. Become so familiar with the little things—HANDLING THE BALL, CHARGING, BLOCKING AND TACKLING—that you will do it instinctively when the time comes, AND DO IT PROPERLY.

(The next story will deal with the work of the linesman.—Editor.)

Whether player or spectator, keep your temper.

Learn the rules—and stick to them.

If you are a player:

Learn to charge, block, handle the ball, and lastly, learn signals and formations.

If you do not master the first four, the others will be useless.

Don't "slug." The game is rough enough within the rules. Slugging in football is like spiking in baseball.

If you are a spectator:

Keep off the playing field.

Give officials the benefit of doubt for honesty and skill—their jobs are hard enough.

And again—players, spectators and officials, learn the rules and stick to them.

WHICH WILL WIN?

The American Rose or the English Lily in Perilous Swim.

BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

(Special Correspondence.)

Dover, Eng., Sept. 12.—Ever since G. Washington cornered Cornwallis at Yorktown, the British and American brothers-under-the-skin have been walloping each other at every turn—and now the women are at it.

Here in Dover, in little red brick cottages on the Esplanade which skirts the English channel, an American girl and an English girl have been watching each other like kitty hawks. The girls are Rose Pitonof, champion of American women swimmers, and Lily Smith, the English girl who gives splendid exhibitions of a tug boat herself.

Both want to swim the channel. Each aspires to be the first woman to negotiate the roughest bit of water in the world—a feat never performed by one of the sex, and by but two men.

For more than six weeks the girls have waited by the water for the cold, rainy weather to disappear, that they may have decent conditions for their swim. All Dover is interested in the determined mermaids and the girl from across the briny has as many followers as the statuesque English beauty.

The rival camps watch each other closely, that neither girl may be first to attempt the swim. They keep a retinue of tugs and small boats in constant readiness, for it is no small thing to brave the English channel chop in a swim to La Belle, France, and to the first one will go large gobsh of advertising and press agenting for future vaudeville engagements.

Both girls are accompanied by their fathers, and every morning each sire is afoot before daylight, scanning the horizon with glasses for the first threat of a promising day, that his daughter may take advantage of the conditions.

One fairly good day did come. The Pitonofs watched the Smiths. They didn't particularly want to make the swim, but would if the Smiths started. The Smiths feigned lack of interest, but suddenly, from an outof-the-way corner of the harbor their boat shot along the English coast and Juno Lily was on her 20-mile swim to Margate.

The next day the English press blazed with the news, but Papa and Rose Pitonof declared this was nothing. The channel remained unconquered by woman. Days have passed, and neither has attempted the swim.

It is the United States against England, just as it was in 1875, and just as it will be until the end of time, probably: good natured rivalry with woman pitted against woman—but give either a chance to take a yank at the bull dog's caudal appendage or the eagle's feathers, and watch them grasp both opportunity and tail piece.

LYCEUM GETTING READY.

First Meeting of Athletic Association to Prepare for Work.

Lyceum Athletic association is looking forward to a great season. Much interest is being taken in all lines of athletic sports. A large crowd attended the opening fall meeting last night. Owing to his moving from the parish Michael J. Shea tendered his resignation as recording secretary, and Ray J. Doyle was elected to serve the unexpired term.

The bowling alleys have been planed and put in fine shape and some good scores are expected, as the Lyceum bowlers are among the city's best.

President Doyle of the Lyceum Bowling league has issued a call for bowlers for Monday evening, September 16, at which plans for the coming season will be completed.

BURMAN'S TITLE NOT EMPTY ONE

Speed King Goes to Milwaukee After Fort Wayne Appearance.

WILL USE NEW BENZ

That the title of "Speed King," carried by Bob Burman who comes to Fort Wayne to race at the Fair Grounds track next Saturday, is not an empty one is proved by the announcement from New York that Burman will pilot his 120 horse power Benz car in the Grand Prize race at Milwaukee, September 17, three days after he comes here. Burman always has entered competition with other drivers and despite the fact that he holds the majority of the world's records in the motor racing sport does not decline to meet all comers in any kind of contest.

Burman's entry in a Benz was made with Joe Dawson at teammate in another Benz with 110 horse power. Dawson's latest victory was the winning of the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. At present he is under the ban of the American Automobile association contest board, but his entry is made conditional to his reinstatement which probably will occur within the next few days. This is one of the most formidable teams which will appear in the Grand Prize.

The feature attraction of the meet next Saturday will be the first appearance of Burman's new 300 horse power car, the Blitzen Benz II. This giant steel steed was recently imported from Germany, where Burman went last spring to try it out. He found that it is much faster than the original Blitzen Benz and believes that it is capable of traveling at the rate of 180 miles per hour on the straightaway. Burman will go after the mile track record with it in Pittsburg. He holds that record at present, having made a mile at Brighton Beach in New York last year in the original Blitzen Benz in 48.62 seconds.

With the local track in its present excellent condition it is almost certain that the speed monarch will lower the mile mark without trouble. The old car traveled a straightaway mile in 25.40 seconds so Burman has reason to believe he can drive the newer and larger one at the rate of a mile in twenty seconds. Burman will go from here direct to the Milwaukee meeting arriving in time to make his long drive there.

The best traffic arrangements ever made for reaching the fair grounds Saturday are promised and the crowds will have little trouble in transit. Burman has grown so popular with the American public that he is drawing more than two to one, compared to what he has in the past. He drove at Brighton Beach in New York last Saturday to fill a postponed date from the Monday before when more than 8,000 persons attended in a drizzling rain. The track was too wet so the meet went over until last Saturday. It is believed that more than 10,000 will see the speed king and the other great drivers who will compete in Fort Wayne. The races start promptly at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

CATCHER RITTER WORKED HARD.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The members of the Utica baseball team, champions of the New York State league, were banqueted by local fans last night and each player received $100 in gold.

Catcher Lon Ritter, it is announced, established a world's record by catching every inning played by the team in 139 games and the three innings of Utica's only postponed game of the schedule. This game was stopped by rain.

WILL CHOP THAT NAME IN SCORES

Fitzcharles is Too Much for any Scorer to Handle in Game.

PRIDE OF HIS CLUB

Trolley League Standing.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Hicksville	10	2	.833
Auburn	12	3	.800
Shamrocks	11	5	.687
Kendallville	5	4	.555

Columbia City	3	7	.300
Paulding	2	7	.222
Garrett	2	7	.222
Waterloo	2	8	.200
Huntington	2	9	.188

There is one thing that will sure happen to Fitzcharles if he ever reaches a league where official records are kept and where metropolitan newspapers print accounts of the game every day. He will have to chop that name. Think of writing a story with that fellow in it and having to use the whole business every time the stock of pronouns either becomes exhausted or leads on to tautology.

Fitz will be just about the cut he will get if he ever goes up. If you don't think he's going up just ask any resident of Hicksville who has attained the use of reason or who has not become senile. You'll find out he's the greatest pitcher that ever hooked a ball over the rubber and in and around the village in which he is showing this season he is the Jimmy Lavender-Rube Marquard-Joe Wood-Walter Johnson of the county.

He is regarded as the cream of the hurling department of the semi-pro circles and he is coming over here Sunday along with a band of rooters and the other members of the Hicksville Browns just to prove all that has been said of him.

The game will be the most important of the Trolley league season as if Mart Cleary and his Shamrocks can hang a defeat to the Ohio contingent and Auburn can cop a victory then the leaders will be pulled off their perch. Auburn will play Paulding and if the Nobis squad gives the Hubs a wrestle like it gave the Shamrocks here Sunday there's a battle coming.

Repeated victories have given the Hicksville rooters all the confidence in the world and there will be a big automobile party over with the Browns. Manager Cleary knows he is up against something tough but he thinks he can "sic" his Shamrocks on the leaders and take a game.

The Yankees will play the East End Stars Saturday. Batteries—Warfield and Bryan; Ockstein and Dewood. The Yankees challange any team in the city under 14 years of age. Answer through The Sentinel.

Liquor Habit Cured IN FIVE DAYS

It is a known fact that persons addicted to the liquor habit shorten their lives; that the constant use of liquor will produce diseases and cause financial loss or failure.

This treatment is harmless and leaves no bad effects. No minerals or injections used.

Each patient is given a private room. Meals are served in the room of each patient. No one knows you have taken the treatment unless you tell.

We contract to effect a complete cure satisfactory to the patient or the fee shall be refunded on leaving the institution and the treatment costs nothing.

INDIANA'S ROAD PLAN ASSAILED

Beveridge Goes on Record for State Highway Commission.

RAPS THE RAILROADS

Knox, Ind., Sept. 12.—An attack on Indiana's road building system was the burden of Albert J. Beveridge's addresses yesterday here and at Winamac while speaking in the interests of his candidacy for governor on the progressive ticket. In connection with this attack he assailed the railway companies, asserting that the system of sub-letting contracts for highway improvements costs the state nearly $1,600,000 a year.

Relative to this point, Mr. Beveridge said:

"The railroads always depend upon the politician contractors to use their influence in their several communities to prevent the legislators from passing any law inimical to railroad priyilege, to keep off the hook any law which the people may need and desire, but which the railroads do not desire. Every time we have tried to change this shameful system the bosses of both parties, the lobbyists representing every anti-public interest, have combined to defeat the people's effort and they have thus far been able to defeat all such efforts.

"And thus it comes that the roads of Indiana in some parts are a disgrace to the commonwealth, with the people possessing small power to change conditions for the better. Our whole road system ought to be reformed. Indiana ought to have a state highway commission and I promise you that if I am elected governor it will have such a commission. Any influence I may have will be used to effect such an end. Such commission should superintend and generally regulate the building of our roads after the manner of the commission of the state of Michigan, which state is far ahead of the condition that prevailed seventy years ago.

FAIRMOUNT EDITOR NAMED.

Peru, Ind., Sept. 12.—Edgar M. Baldwin, editor of the News at Fairmount, was nominated for congress on the progressive ticket, Eleventh district, on the first ballot here yesterday afternoon. There were two other candidates—the Rev. William E. Shaffer, of Bunker Hill, and Leroy Johnson, of Logansport.

William Dudley Foulke, of Richmond, discussed at length the platforms of the progressive and democratic parties, saying that the political battle in Indiana was sharply drawn between the two organizations. His frequent references to Roosevelt and Beveridge aroused much enthusiastic applause.

All opposition to Langner's pardon was withdrawn with the understanding that he leave this country. Grave doubts had been expressed as to Langner's guilt and the validity of the evidence on which he was convicted.

MAIL TRAIN GOES IN DITCH.

One Dead and Many Hurt in Wreck at Morton, N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The Wabash mail train on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg division of the New York Central, running sixty miles an hour, jumped the track at Morton, 25 miles west of Charlotte, today. Two passengers and the engineer and fireman were seriously injured. A score of passengers suffered slight injuries. Fireman Eugene House died this afternoon.

The injured are being taken to Charlotte. The locomotive and five coaches, one a Pullman, lie in the ditch. When the locomotive hit an open switch it leaped into the air and struck the front wall of a storage plant and demolished it. The overturning coaches struck two freight cars on the next track and wrecked them.

WATSON TO COME FOR BIG MEETING

Former Whip of the House Will Speak September 19 at Mass Meeting.

THE POLITICAL GOSSIP

James E. Watson, former whip of the house and one of the leading figures in the G. O. P., is to come to Fort Wayne Thursday, September 19, to deliver an address at a mass meeting of Twelfth district republicans, to be held at Princess rink.

District Chairman Allen J. Vesey received notice of Mr. Watson's coming late Wednesday night, and he is now making extensive preparations for the meeting. Republicans from all parts of the northern Indiana will attend the gathering, which will officially open the republican speaking campaign in this district.

It seems that the Twelfth district is to be the stamping ground for political leaders late this month, as some of the big guns in all the parties are scheduled for addresses here. A. J. Beveridge, progressive candidate for governor of Indiana, will be here for a meeting at the rink on the evening of September 27, according to notice received by County Chairman C. M. Preble. Then, during the first week in October, the democrats have an inning, with an address here on October 2 by Hon. Samuel M. Ralston, candidate for governor.

Organization Is Slow.

After almost three weeks of untiring work, C. M. Preble, chairman of the Allen county progressives, still announces that he has not completed his list of committeemen. This is taken by the regular republicans to mean that the bull moose leader is experiencing as much difficulty in perfecting his organization as the republican managers are having, and many local politicians hold the same opinion.

In spite of the fact that he has made repeated changes in his list, Mr. Preble insists that he is having no trouble in perfecting his county central committee.

"We want to get everything in excellent running order," said Mr. Preble. "Therefore, we are taking our time in completing the list of committeemen. We appoint one man, and then if we find another whom we believe would have more time, or a man of more political experience, we make a change. For that reason we do not make public the appointments made thus far."

MANY COMMITTEEMEN REPORT

Fourteen out of twenty republican country committeemen reported at local headquarters today, and received instructions for taking a poll of their townships. Members of the republican central committee who live in the city will meet this evening, at which time County Chairman Houk will make an attempt to fill the vacancies now existing.

Two vacancies in the country were expected to be filled today, but owing to pressing farm work, not enough men were in the city to go ahead with the selections. The vacancies were caused by the resignations of Committeeman Hadley, in Marion township, and Albert Larimore, in Lake township.

Judge B. W. Skelton, secretary of the committee, is in charge of the republican headquarters. He is confident that the organization will be perfected by the end of this week.

BUSY, BUT PLAYS GOLF.

President Finds Time for Brief Trip to the Links.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 12.—President Taft faced a busy day when he motored from Parramatta for a few hours on the golf links this forenoon. After returning from the links the president received Chandler P. Anderson, counselor for the state department, who came down to Beverly from York Beach, Maine. Attorney General Wickersham, who is traveling southward from Bretton Woods, N. H., then conferred with the president, after which Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh called at Parramatta. Secretary MacVeagh is returning to Washington from his summer home at Dublin, N. H.

The two cabinet officers and Mr. Anderson were invited to luncheon with the president. It was admitted that Mr. Anderson's interest in the Mexican situation made certain a discussion of conditions in Mexico.

LAW FIRM DISSOLVES.

The law firm of Jones & Smiley, which has been established in the Lincoln Life building for five months, has been dissolved, the senior partner, John G. B. Jones, retiring, and Glenn H. Smiley continuing the offices in his own behalf. During its short career the firm gained an enviable reputation. Mr. Jones' home is in Rome City and Mr. Smiley formerly lived in Rushville.

ARTIST, 75, TO WED WOMAN, 72.

But Neither Feels Old and Both Look Young.

New York, Sept. 12.—"A woman is only as old as she looks and a man is only as old as he feels." So, as neither felt old and both looked young, John Christopher Giller, 75, and Racheal Kendall, 72, walked into the city hall and secured a license to marry. The couple reside in East Eighty-eighth street, only a few doors from each other. The pair will be married tomorrow and start immediately for Switzerland, where Mr. Giller has a residence and will continue his painting of landscapes.

BRYAN PAYS HIS OWN BILLS.

Will Start Saturday on Campaign Tour to Trail Roosevelt.

New York, Sept. 12.—William J. Bryan notified democratic headquarters here today that he will start next Saturday on a speaking tour of the western states following on the trail of Colonel Roosevelt. He will make the trip at his own expense.

Mr. Bryan will open at Denver Saturday night, September 14, preceding Col. Roosevelt, who speaks there next Thursday. He will then speak at all important points where Col. Roosevelt has spoken in Colorado, Utah, Montana, California, Nevada and Wyoming.

TIME LIMIT IS UP BUT REBELS WAIT

Make No Attack on Mexican Federals Massed at Agua Prieta.

TROOPS CROSS LINE

Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 12.—No movement of the combined rebel forces of Salazar and Rojas was apparent today when the time limit given by Rojas for the surrender of Agua Prieta had expired. Before daylight 470 federal reinforcements, including many Yaqui Indians, arrived from Jaurez and were checked across the international line by American customs officers.

As many more in another special train and a third train conveying horses for the command were expected to arrive later in the day. The rebel forces were reported still at Cenisas Springs, twelve miles southeast of Agua Prieta.

In an ultimatum Rojas had expressed a polite desire to have federals give battle to the insurrectos three miles out from Agua Prieta in order that there might be no damage done on the American side of the line. Mexican officials have not decided to accept the invitation although the arrival of reinforcements today will give them strength equal to that of the rebels. United States officials have received several anonymous letters since permission was granted the Madero government to transport troops through American territory, threatening to dynamite the troop trains.

Three troops of the Ninth U. S. cavalry reached here today. The negro soldiers arrived carrying revolvers. At the request of Sheriff Wheeler their commanding officer disarmed them.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

Messrs. Arthur Welkin and William Sauerteig will leave next Sunday for a tour of the western country. They will be gone several months and expect to go to the Pacific coast.

Miss Henrietta Levenberger entertained a company of friends very pleasantly at her home last evening in honor of the Misses Freienstein, of Cleveland, O., whom she has as her guests. The company was invited to the diningroom during the time where a delicious luncheon was served. The decorations were tastefully carried out in the colors of pink and white. Prizes were won by Miss Rose Kaufman, of Monroeville, and George Hilker. Consolation favors went to Miss Violand and Mr. Greven. Musical selections enjoyed during the evening were furnished by the Hilker brothers, accompanied by Prof. Peil.

WILL GO TO SAN FRANCISCO.

General Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, Chooses Officers.

Indianapolis, Sept. 12.—The general grand chapter, Royal Arch Masons, today selected San Francisco for the next triennial convention in September, 1915, elected officers and upheld a ruling that the Philippine islands are within the jurisdiction of the grand chapter of the United States.

Bernard G. Witt, of Henderson, Ky., was elected general grand high priest, succeeding Nathan Kingsley, of Austin, Minn. George E. Corson, of the District of Columbia, was elected to deputy general high priest; Frederick W. Craig, of Iowa, was advanced from the place of general grand scribe to that of general grand king, succeeding Corson. Wm. F. Kuhn, of Kansas City, was elected general grand king. John M. Carter, of the District of Columbia, was re-elected general grand treasurer.

The $250,000,000 worth of iron and steel and $55,000,000 worth of agricultural implements exported from the United States last year found markets in practically every part of the civilized world.

INDIANA WILL AID IN PROBE

Morphine is Discovered in Body of Messmaker at West Hammond.

WAR ON THE DIVES

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Secrets of one of the many graves laid at the door of West Hammond's vice ring were bared yesterday when the coroner's chemical analysis of John Messmaker's body showed "morphine sufficient to cause death."

John Messmaker was the West Hammond engineer whose death in the Henry Foss dive started Virginia Brooks on a fresh campaign against vice, in which Coroner Peter Hoffman was enlisted.

His death came after a night of revelry at the Foss dive.

After the death Frankie Ford, an inmate of the Foss dive, along with other witnesses, disappeared. The Ford woman was recently captured. Foss told the coroner that Messmaker did not spend the night there and later Robert Clayton, a cab driver, who contradicted Foss' statement, succumbed to "stomach trouble."

Now it is to the body of the cab driver that the coroner looks for further enlightenment on the operations of the West Hammond ring, already subject to prosecution from three different angles. That will entail co-operation with the Lake county, Indiana, coroner.

To Re-examine Ford Woman.

The coroner's next step will be re-examination of Frankie Ford. Mr. Hoffman's plan to conduct the examination yesterday was interfered with by the physical collapse of the Ford girl at the bridewell, where she awaits arraignment on a charge as accessory in the murder of Messmaker. Superintendent Whitman notified the coroner that her appearance was impossible.

The coroner's report on the chemical analysis was received from Dr. Ralph Webster, as follows:

"On Aug. 20, 1912, I received from Dr. E. R. Le Count a sealed package containing three mason jars, in which were said to be the organs of John Messmaker.

"I submitted a portion of the stomach and the stomach contents, also the brain, to analysis for the presence of chloral, and found it to be absent. I then examined a further portion of the stomach and stomach contents for morphine and found this poison to be present in abundant quantities, sufficient, in my opinion, to cause death."

Plot, Says Miss Brooks.

"I do not believe that Frankie Ford killed Messmaker," said the girl reformer after the result was announced. "I believe this is all a conspiracy on the part of disreputables of West Hammond to make it appear that she is responsible for his death."

During the day the village Joan, as she is termed, assisted at the county attorney's office in the final preparations for prosecution of Justice Frank Green, sitting at West Hammond, and Justice Charles Wittenberg, on the bench at Burnham.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire in this manner to thank our friends, who so kindly assisted us during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother. The Rev. Ph. and Fr. Wambsganss for their consoling words and also for all the beautiful floral offerings.

HENRY WELLMAN AND FAMILY.

Architect M. S. Mahurin was at Auburn yesterday looking after affairs connected with the construction of the new DeKalb county court house, for which he drew the plans. Work on the structure is progressing nicely, and the building will be completed by April.

T. J. Logan, clerk of the local federal court, is still confined to his home in Lakeside, and it is said that his condition is not much improved. Mr. Logan is suffering an attack of rheumatism, and it was necessary for the attending physician to encase one of his limbs in a plaster cast.

FAVOR CITY'S LIGHT SYSTEM

The Merchants' Association Adopts Resolutions Urging Patronage.

TEXT OF EXPRESSION

A set of resolutions embodying their expressions of gratefulness to Mayor Grice and the council for providing an ornamental system of street lighting, and also urging the patronage of the municipal lighting plant, was adopted by the members of the Retail Merchants' association at their meeting last Monday evening. The resolutions were received by the mayor today.

During the past few months, the association members have heard remarks from representatives of both the municipal plant and of the Northern Indiana Traction company. Controller Cutshall and Chief Electrician Dix made the remarks from the view point of the city's side during the spring, and the traction company's side was heard last Monday.

Text of Resolutions.

The resolutions, which are peculiarly gratifying to Mayor Grice and to the other city officials, read as follows:

"Whereas the property owners and the merchants in the business blocks on Calhoun, Berry and Main streets, desiring to render their places of business more attractive at night, thus inviting the evening inspection of not only our own people, but of hundreds of visitors which nightly fill our numerous hotels, did petition our city administration and city council to install on these streets a system of ornamental lighting much more attractive than the arc lights formerly used, and

"Whereas, the city, acting through its council and administration, has granted such petition and has agreed to furnish current from the city electric lighting plant without any charge to such property holders and business men thus benefited; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the members of this Retail Merchants' association, and especially of those doing business on the streets named, that we recommend that we give our business of electric lighting to the city plant, in which we are all stockholders, and which will, if generously supported, soon be in shape to return a large profit to the city, thus lessening general taxation or, if preferred, enabling the city to compel a still further reduction in lighting rates, and be it also

"Resolved, That in thus giving our municipal plant this very profitable part of the business of electric lighting, we believe we are enabling the city to more rapidly extend its lines to the outer districts and that we are thus rendering a special service and benefit to our customers in such more distant districts.

"Resolver, further, that a copy of this preamble and of these resolutions be forwarded by our secretary to his honor, Mayor Jesse Grice, and also the city council as an expression of our appreciation of their action in what they have thus done for the benefit and extension of the business interests of Fort Wayne."

NOTES OF THE COURTS.

Under the will of Mary D. McNair, filed today in the circuit court, all her property is bequeathed to her daughter, Carrie Clark.

Emma H. Doty, of 330 West Berry street, has filed suit for divorce from Elmer E. Doty. She charges that he called her bad names, refused to provide for her and forgot his marriage vows. P. B. Colerick is her attorney.

G. A. R. MEETING.

The regular Saturday meeting of the Lawton Wayne post, No. 271, of the G. A. R., will be held at 1:30 o'clock at Vordermark's hall. Comrades are all requested to be present and several members will be mustered in. Refreshments will be served at the close of the business session.

TALKING ABOUT PRECAUTION

Wabash Safety Committee Meets to Discuss Prevention of Accidents.

The division safety committee of the Wabash, with Supt. J. C. Sullivan presiding, is holding a meeting today in the committee rooms on Fairfield avenue, going extensively into the causes of various kinds of accidents and the best methods of preventing them. This meeting was to have been held some time ago, but on account of the sickness of Mr. Sullivan it was postponed until today. The division safety committee includes the chairmen of the committees from all of the departments, but not the committee membership in full. Those in attendance today are Supt. J. C. Sullivan, Trainmaster C. E. Wells, Chief Clerk J. M. Hughes, Chief Dispatcher J. T. Cullen, Road Foreman of Engines A. F. King, Fuel Inspector R. A. Mesmore, Master Mechanic G. W. Smith, Foreman of Toledo Car Shops J. C. Meehan, Division Engineer W. S. Danes, Road Supervisor Michael Lumm, Peru Agent J. T. McPartland, Telegrapher J. C. Rizor, Conductor A. W. Metsker, Chairman Engineers Brotherhood A. S. Mead, Brakeman L. Arland, Fireman G. W. Harris and Yard Conductor R. E. McNally.

RUSSIAN LABORER ROBS HIS COMRADES

Pretends Sickness and Remains in Bunk House When They Leave.

The Pennsylvania police department is looking for a foreigner who until last Monday was a member of a gang of laborers employed by the Pennsylvania and who live in "bunk houses" at Nevada, Ohio. When the other members of the gang started for the scene of the day's toil after breakfast last Monday, this man did not go with them on the plea that he was sick. Instead he got upon an eastbound train after his comrades left for their work and has not been seen since. Simultaneous with the disappearance of this fellow was the disappearance of the "Sunday suits" of some of his comrades and $66 in cash. Fifty dollars of the cash belonged to a Russian and $16 was the property of another foreign laborer and the money was hidden in their bunks. The clothing and the money were not missed until the following evening and the man who is supposed to have taken it had a ten or twelve hours start and will probably not be apprehended.

LUTHER WRIGHT.

Luther Wright, whose portrait appears above, was for nearly a half century a prominent figure at the Wabash shops. He was a native of Richland N. Y., where he was born December 1, 1825, and where he received his early education and served an apprenticeship as a machinist, coming to Fort Wayne and engaging in that work in the Wabash shops in 1860. He was steadily employed there until ten years ago, when the infirmities of age interferred more or less with his work, but he remained on the pay rolls until four years ago, though a good portion of the time was spent in the hospitals. For several months the aged man had been very feeble and death came to his relief last Thursday, when he was eighty-six years, nine months and four days old. There are not over a half dozen men in the city today who were employed in the Wabash shops when Mr. Wright took employment there, fifty-two years ago. In 1853 he was married to Miss Laura L. Grout, who preceded him in death some ten years. No children attained maturity, and when the end came to the aged man, not a living blood relatives survived him, though there are several of the relatives of Mrs. Wright living. For a number of years he was a member of Westminster Presbyterian church and before the infirmities of age became so marked, he was an active worker in the Railroad Y. M. C. A. To the older employes of the Wabash shops, who were best acquainted with Luther Wright, news of his demise was sorrowfully received.

BEST LIST OF HISTORY

Will Be Lecture Course of Electro-Technic Club 1912-1913.

Robert O. Orff, chairman of the literary committe of the Electro-Technic club, who has in hand the work of engaging the lecturers and arranging the program for the 1912-1913 lecture course, believes that the coming list of attractions will be the best the club ever had. The opening lecture will be the "Dawn of Plenty," a dramalogue of motion pictures, color views and pictorial effects, telling the story of wheat, including the methods of harvesting it and preparing it for food from the beginning to the present time. This lecture will be under the direction of the International Harvester Company's Lecture Bureau, and to get it for the opening number of the course, the Electro-Technic club has changed the opening date from Tuesday, October 22, to Tuesday, October 29. "Precious Stones, Natural and Artificial," by Prof. F. B. Wade, of the Shortridge High school, Indianapolis, will be the second lecture, some time in November. This, also, will be highly entertaining and educational and Mr. Orff considers himself fortunate in making a date with Prof. Wade. The December lecture will be on "Turbines," by J. J. Kline, manager of the lighting department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, who has made the subject a study and is signally qualified to talk upon it. Chairman Orff has two other lecturers of national reputation in negotiation for an engagement, with fair prospects of success, but the dates have not been closed and announcement cannot be made for awhile. The Electro-Technic club has 400 members at present and before the opening of the lecture course it is expected the number will have passed the 500 point.

STOREKEEPERS IN CONFERENCE.

Men Who Have Charge of Pennsylvania Supplies Assemble Here.

A two or three days' session of division storekeepers on the lines which go to make up the Pennsylvania Northwest system commenced in the committee rooms back of the shops this morning. Charles P. Cherry, storekeeper for the Western division, is presiding over the meeting and others taking part in the proceedings are Paul J. Zimmerman, of Chicago; C. A. Jackson, of Allegheny; D. Shipley, of Wellsville; W. T. Weshler, of Mahoningtown; C. W. Souel, of Crestline, and C. E. Blessing, of Cleveland. William Auman and Henry Heine, of the local store room, are doing clerical work at the meeting.

ROBBED A BUNK HOUSE.

Member of a Labor Gang Steals from His Mates.

The Pennsylvania police department is looking for a foreigner who until last Monday was a member of a gang of laborers employed by the Pennsylvania and who live in "bunk houses" at Nevada, Ohio. When the other members of the gang started for the scene of the day's toil after breakfast last Monday, this man did not go with them on the plea that he was sick. Instead he got upon an eastbound train after his comrades left for their work and has not been seen since. BOILERMAKER LOSES ARM.

James Somers Crippled While Asleep in Wabash Yards.

James Somers, who says his home is Paris, Mo., had an arm amputated above the elbow at St. Joseph hospital Wednesday evening, Drs. E. J. McOscar and C. F. Kaadt performing the operation. Somers, while under the influence of liquor, laid down on some straw between the old Wabash freight house and an adjacent track at 6 o'clock and fell asleep. While he slumbered a switching crew pushed a cut of cars on the track and the wheels of one of them ran over his left arm, crushing it to the elbow. He was immediately taken to St. Joseph hospital, where the surgical operation was performed. Somers is about twenty-eight years old and is said to be addicted to the drink habit. About six weeks ago he served a jail sentence for intoxication, leaving the city upon being released. He returned here a few days ago, but did not work at any of the shops since his arrival. He is quite well known among boilermakers in the city, having worked at various times in most of the shops here for short periods. He is said to be a good workman, but will not stick to a job very long.

TO GIVE EMPLOYES OUTING.

Men Who Make Concentrators Go to Barbee Friday.

The twenty-five or more shop and office employes of the Deister Concentrator company will be the guests of Secretary and General Manager W. H. Bensman at a picnic and piscatorial outing at Barbee lake, about thirty-five miles west of Fort Wayne, tomorrow. The trip to and from the lake will be made in automobiles and six have been engaged for the purpose. The Deister Concentrator company has had an exceptionally prosperous business year and the men have faithfully performed their part of the work and Mr. Bensman is giving the outing in appreciation of their work.

CASH REGISTER ROBBED.

Thief Got Some Nickels From Telephone Booth.

When the telephone in the Pennsylvania waiting room, which is a "drop nickel in slot" affair, failed to operate at an early hour this morning, an investigation developed the fact that the "till" had been broken open and its contents taken. The robbery took place some time during the night, but just what hour will not be known until the thief is caught or becomes conscious stricken and announces it. The amount of cash taken from the box is also unknown, but it was not a great sum, for the box was emptied a few days ago. In opening the box the thief damaged it beyond repair and a new box was placed in the booth this morning.

BERNARD IS AT HOME.

Albert Bernard, of Chicago, who was injured while a passenger on the Pennsylvania Special, No. 29, when it left the rails at Middlepoint, O., August 17, is now at his home. He was released from St. Joseph hospital in this city yesterday afternoon and accompanied by Dr. C. B. Stemen and Mr. Bernard's cousin, who came down from Chicago for that purpose, the trip to his home city was made on Pennsylvania train No. 9, leaving at 4:10 last evening. While Mr. Bernard is believed to be practically beyond all danger from ill effects of the accident nearly a month ago, Dr. Stemen considered it advisable to accompany him to avoid any complications that might arise. While in Chicago Dr. Stemen held a conference with Dr. Eisenbath, who has been the Bernard family physician for a number of years, concerning the patient's case. Dr. Eisenbath is a professor of surgery at the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery.

ENTERTAINED HIS SHOPMATES.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Labbe, jr., of Hough street, were host and hostess to eighteen of his shopmates Tuesday evening, the occasion being the thirty-third anniversary of the birth of Mr. Labbe. Games, music and a delicious luncheon were among the entertaining features of the evening. Mr. Labbe is a pipefitter at the Pennsylvania, and by his comrades is considered one of the "best fellows on earth."

RESUMES OLD POSITION.

Machinist William McCaffrey is at his old place in the Bass Foundry and Machine works, after an absence of two years, during which he was employed in the Wayne Auto Axle company's plant, on Hayden street. The Bass shops are short on mechanics and Master Mechanic J. J. Muir is looking for more men.

REPAIRING CITY PLANT.

The city pumping plant, No. 2, is receiving attention from mechanics and boilermakers. Included in the repairs are new flues for two of the boilers and this work is being performed by Boilermakers O. W. Robbins and Fred Bierbaum, of the Bass shops.

TRANSFERRED AND PROMOTED.

Shop Clerk J. H. Hobrock, of the Pennsylvania, this morning transferred C. A. Bahlinger, a clerk, from the east car shop paint department office to the erecting shop office. The change is a promotion for the young man.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

The G. A. R. pay car will be in Fort Wayne next Tuesday.

Engineer K. Heist, of the Pennsylvania, is sick and off duty.

Fred W. Cheeney, a boilermaker's helper, took employment at the Wabash shops this morning.

Harry Hogan, who had been sick three or four days, resumed work in the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

J. L. Christen, an apprentice in the Pennsylvania machine shop, has gone to Lafayette to attend the funeral of his uncle.

E. Lore, for the past year employed as a helper in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, resigned this morning to take employment elsewhere.

H. H. Smith, tinner at the Pennsylvania shops, is recovering from an operation at St. Joseph hospital for appendicitis. He will be able to go home in a week or two.

Gang Foreman Paul A. Meyer, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, and his wife are in Montpelier, O., today attending a reunion of the Bicknese family, of which Mrs. Meyer is a member.

J. C. Vachon, of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife. F. S. Hicks, Joseph Guise, William Lerch and D. C. Tagtmeyer, shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Last Tuesday evening Machinist A. J. Smethers, of the Pennsylvania shops, sustained an injury to one of his fingers when it was caught in the gear of a machine he was operating. He is off duty as a result.

Engineer E. Blanchard, of the Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Blanchard have returned home after a two or three weeks' visit with relatives in another state. Mr. Blanchard reported for work this morning.

Ray Cary, a machinist's apprentice in the Wabash shops, had three of the fingers of his right hand painfully cut yesterday when the brasses from a locomotive main road fell upon his hand. He will be unable to work for some days.

Miss Mary Herr, daughter of the well known Pennsylvania machinist, Charles Herr, will leave on the Pennsylvania Manhattan limited train tomorrow afternoon on a two or three weeks' visit in the east. Among other stopping places will be Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Lockport, N. Y.

Machinist Fred Schafernacher, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, was operated upon for abdominal troubles at the Lutheran hospital yesterday. The operation was successful and the young man will recover. He is a son of Fred Schafernacher, of the Pennsylvania car machine shop, with whom he resides.

Mrs. W. H. Grout and daughter, Miss Lillian Grout, have returned to the city after spending a month in Grand Rapids with Mr. Grout. He is a conductor on the G. R. & I. Northland limited and covers the line in that capacity from Richmond to Grand Rapids. The train will be taken out of service in a week or two, when Conductor Grout will return here to take another run.

TO HOLD BIG MEETING.

Women's Hope Hospital Committee to Discuss Building Campaign.

A meeting of the Woman's Hope Hospital committee was held Wednesday afternoon, and plans were started for a big social meeting to take place on the first Wednesday afternoon in October. All friends of the institution will be invited to attend, and participate in the discussion of a campaign for funds with which to build a new hospital.

The current indebtedness of the hospital has been taken care of at this time, and it is likely that the building campaign will be started shortly before the holidays.

COURT OF DOMESTIC RELATIONS AND ROAD GANG FOR DELINQUENT HUSBANDS, JUDGE'S SOLUTION FOR DIVORCE PROBLEM.

"We Jail a Man for Non-Support of His Family and Leave Them to Starve—Wouldn't It Be Better to Make Them Work Under a Guard for $2 a Day and Turn the Money Over to the Wife?" Asks Seattle Jurist.

SKETCH OF JUDGE DYKEMAN.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 12.—The prisoner had been found guilty of non-support of his wife. His defense had been inability to find employment. Evidence had been given that he had not tried to find employment.

"I am satisfied," said the court of domestic relations, "that you could support your wife if you wished. You say you cannot find work. Well, work will be found for you—at good pay."

The prisoner stirred uneasily.

"You are sentenced to the delinquent husbands' road gang," continued the court, "until such time as other work can be found. The pay will be $2 a day.

"And you, madam," said the court, turning to the complaining witness, "will call here every Saturday, not later than 2 o'clock, and receive the money. Call the next case, Mr. Clerk."

The above is fiction. It didn't happen. There is no court of domestic relations in Seattle. There is no delinquent husbands' road gang. But Judge King Dykeman thinks there ought to be.

"It is an impossibility," said the judge, tamping his briar, "for a man and a woman of strong character"—here he applied the match—"to live together without friction. It can't be done.

How the Divorce Starts.

"The first year of marriage is romantic. Afterwards comes a prosaic period. Then husband and wife quarrel. It is inevitable. They are, we'll say, good people. They are true to their vows.

"Perhaps, he wants to read the newspaper evenings, and rest, while she, bored by a long day in the house, with only the children for company, wants to talk. His replies are grunts.

"She reproaches him. He growls. She snaps. He explodes. She weeps. He grabs his hat and goes downtown.

She Goes to See a Lawyer.

"Next morning the wife goes downtown to see a lawyer. The lawyer does his duty by his client. The papers are served on the husband at his work. They come into court.

"The husband retaliates by elaborating every little cussedness of which his wife has been guilty. He, too, exaggerates the truth. Before she gets through she has painted him a drunken brute. The push was a blow. The more she thinks about the day she smelled beer on his breath, the surer she is that he was drunk. And she's an extravagant shrew.

"Divorce granted. Husband ordered to pay alimony. The usual difficulty over the custody of the children. And all unnecessary.

"Or, suppose the court, finding that neither has done anything very bad, orders them to go home and behave sensibly. Perhaps they try. But in all my experience I have never known them to try successfully. Neither can forget the picture of the other telling, in open court, putting into the public records, that the other was a drunken brute or an extravagant shrew. Such a reunion is bound to end in shipwreck."

"If the system has failed, what then?"

"A court of domestic relations. They have one in Chicago. I would go farther than the Chicago court goes.

"I would have a court which would regulate domestic affairs from the first quarrel. Such a court would need wide experience and large sympathies. Instead of a wife's going to a lawyer, who naturally urges her to sue for divorce, she would carry her story to the court. The court would send for the husband and get his side. A bailiff would investigate the home.

"Perhaps a plain talk to both, in private, would be all that was necessary. In nine cases out of ten divorce proceedings could be avoided. If divorce was necessary, the cost to the litigants at least could be materially reduced.

"In connection with the court of domestic relations, I believe we should have a road gang for delinquent husbands and divorced men failing to pay alimony.

"Under the present system we jail a man for non-support of his wife and family, and leave them to starve.

"Wouldn't it be better to have these men working on our roads, with guards over them, earning $2 a day?

And His Family Suffers.

"I have in mind the case of a young wife whose husband is now doing twenty days for non-support. While he is living in idleness at public exxpense, she is working, trying—and failing—to support three children. If that man could be made to work for wages and the money turned over to the wife, it would solve the financial problem. It would put enough food into the months of those children to keep them strong. It would put the needed half-soles on their shoes to keep their feet dry. It would even give them a Sunday outing in the park. And it would teach the husband a wholesome lesson that he would not soon forget."

SIMPSON M. E. CHURCH WORKERS LEAD FOR FIRST PRIZE

VOLUNTEER FIREMEN, FORT WAYNE ELECTRIC WORKS MAKE GREAT SHOWING

Now Is Time to Secure 5,000 Votes by Purchasing New Customer Book at Troy Laundry

Taking the lead for the first time since the $4,000 manufacturers' voting campaign started, with only a small margin to the good, workers for Simpson M. E. church, one of the most aggressive of all the organizations competing for the first organization of $600 in gold, have thus made apparent their determination to cling to the top position during the remaining two weeks of the campaign. They have promised themselves; they have added new workers to the committee of label gatherers, and they have declared unceasing effort toward the desired end to be their watchword from now until the close of the campaign. All of which no doubt will be necessary, for immediately below are three or four organizations in the standing and gathering votes at a cyclonic rate. The organizations are now awake to the fact that if they want to get either one of the cash prizes they will have to get busy. The fact that there are five prizes for organizations makes some of them feel that they are sure to land in the winning class, but they must not lose track of the fact that there will be two outside the money. Now is the time to get busy and help your organization get one of these prizes. The specials for the coming week offer some good inducements and you must get busy.

The following specials will commence Friday, Sept. 13, and close Friday, Sept. 20:

Six signatures High Grade Tea, 5,000 votes.

Five tops High Grade Rice, 5,000 votes.

Twelve Olivilo Soap Wrappers, 10,000 votes.

Six Queen Bee Graham Crackers or Ginger Snaps, save wrapper, 10,000 votes.

Ten Heit-Miller-Lau 5c candy, 2,000 votes.

Three Heit-Miller-Lau 30c candy, 5,000 votes.

Three Heit-Miller-Lau 60c candy, 10,000 votes.

Twelve labels Sugar Loaf Red Kidney Beans, Pork and Beans or Hominy, 10,000 votes.

Twenty Red Man or Red Horse Tobacco, save front, 10,000 votes.

Five Chieftain Borax or 98 per cent German Lye, save Chieftain head, 10,000 votes.

Four Golden Tree Maple Syrup or Mustard, save label, 10,000 votes.

Fifty Univoco Cigars, save band, 10,000 votes.

One hundred Rub-No-More Soap or Washing Powder, save trade-mark or front, 10,000 votes. On every lot of 1,000 Rub-No-More trademarks or fronts the bonus will be tripled. In other words, each 1,000 will be good for 300,000 votes. Buy it by the box, it will last longer and save you money.

PLANS PRISON RUN BY WOMEN.

Berlin Thinks Innovation Will Improve Female Convicts.

Berlin, Sept. 12.—A novel experiment in penology is about to be made by the Prussian authorities, who will open here a woman's prison exclusively managed by women. Not only the guards and wardens, but the superintendents and directors of the various prison labor departments will be of the same sex as the prisoners. There will be thirty-six women inspectors and a number of teachers will instruct in useful and remunerative occupations. It is the theory of the authorities that a woman's prison exclusively under feminine management will not only avoid many administrative difficulties, but will bring about a more intelligent and sympathetic treatment of prisoners. The institution will be opened in October.

UNCLE SAM BUILDS WORLD'S LARGEST COLLIER AND SAVES $100,000 BY DOING IT HIMSELF.

Some Ship is Jupiter, Which Will Be Operated by Electricity About the Same as a Motorman Handles "Juice" on a Street Car.

The United States collier Jupiter, the largest naval collier in the world, was launched recently at the Mare Island navy yard.

The launching marked a record in shipbuilding at government navy yards. The government has demonstrated that it can beat private shipbuilders, even when hindered by repair work and the ordinary work that comes to the navy yard.

As a result of the remarkable record made in building the Jupiter, the Mare Island yard is practically certain of getting the contract for a second great fuel ship, for which an appropriation has been made.

THE JUPITER, SNAPPED JUST AFTER LAUNCHING, AND PORTRAIT OF CHIEF NAVAL CONSTRUCTOR THOMAS F. RUHM, WHO MADE RECORD OF BUILDING THE HUGE SHIP.

The Jupiter is one of three new giant fuel ships of the American navy, with a displacement of 19,500 tons and a length of 542 feet. When completed it will be the most advanced type of vessel, as it will be operated by electricity. A "motorman" on the bridge of the fuel-carrying leviathan will run the craft as easily as a trolley car operator handles his vehicle.

Its speed will be fourteen knots and its loaded draft 27 feet 6 inches. The coal-carrying capacity, including bunkers, is 12,500 tons. In addition there is a fuel oil capacity of 375,000 gallons.

It will be loaded or unloaded by means of special coaling gear having a capacity of 100 tons per hatch an hour. This, from twelve hatches, gives a capacity of 1,200 tons an hour. The coaling gear consists of eight steel towers on the upper and poop decks, between the hatches. Four steel booms are carried on six of the towers and two booms on the others. Each pair of booms, when in position, supports a transverse wire span over the center of each hatch, on which the coal trolley operates.

The Jupiter can coal two battleships at sea in the record time formerly held for coaling one ship.

Fuel oil cargo will be handled by means of two duplex steam pumps on a watertight flat forward of the oil holds. A system of piping permits the vessel to take oil from a barge alongside and discharge into the hold, or deliver oil to another vessel, at the rate of 400 tons an hour.

ATE BREAKFAST FOOD FOR WEEK

Get by High Prices and Give the Difference to Charity.

MANY TRIED THE PLAN

Princeton, Mo., Sept. 12—Five families of this town have gained a lap on the high cost of living as a result of a charity week organized here by the Helping Hand society recently. The weekly expense has been reduced on an average of thirty cents per person. The undertaking netted $56.54, for the relief of the poor next winter.

The answer to the riddle was easy—breakfast food. Breakfast, dinner, supper, and in between times these five Princeton families—the head of one is a wealthy real estate dealer and all are considered well-to-do, ate nothing else—cream, sugar and breakfast food. And the difference between it and the old cost, which included potatoes, corn, bread, chickens, salads, jellies, marmalades, and the other delicacies of a country town, was charity's reward.

The reports of four of the five families were compiled as follows:

For family of three—former cost, $9.50; new diet, 91 cents; saving, $8.59.

For family of four—Former cost, $10; new diet, $1.40; saving, $8.60.

For family of five—Former cost, $10.75; new diet, $1.40; saving, $9.35.

For family of six—Former cost, $12.25; new diet, $1.75; saving, $10.50.

Stranded Drummer Started It.

The experiment started shortly after a stranded grocery drummer came here, August 23. He was without expense money, but he had a shipment of five hundred packages of the breakfast food—ten cents a package. He offered the society one cent for each package it would sell and an additional bonus of $1.50 per hundred. This gave an idea to Miss Lois Cockrell, secretary, and she proposed the trial of the food as a steady diet for one week. Five families, each of them members of the society, pledged themselves to eat nothing else during the week ending Sunday night. Strict account was to be kept of the saving over the old plan.

Girls Sold 384 Packages.

At the same time eight high school girls were sent over town selling the fod to housewives. The girls, led by Miss Bess McBeath and Miss Florence Fuller, were not novices. They made over $100 towards a school piano fund a year ago by blacking shoes and scrubbing floors. They sold in all 384 packages, which netted $9.60 to the charity fund.

The figures turned in are almost startling:

Schuyler King and his family of five had been spending $10.75 a week. Breakfast food cut it to $1.40 a week.

A. W. Clements' family of six reduced from $12.25, $1.75 a day, to $1.75, or 26½ cents a day.

The family of John R. Girdiner, three in number, used to spend $9.50 each week. Breakfast food brought it down to 91 cents.

W. R. Pickens, with a family of four, reduced expenses from $10 a week to 20 cents a day.

Miss Cockrell's figures on their family of five showed a saving of $10.

The five families, totaling twenty-three persons, saved during the week $46.94.

No Work for Mother.

"The first day everything was lovely," said Mr. King. "The second day I rather missed my wife's good cooking. The next day it was terrible. That must have been the crisis, because during the four remaining days I grew more and more contented. My wife liked it; it wasn't any trouble."

TO WED IN CAGE OF LIONS.

Girl Will Become Wife of Man She Never Saw.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 12.—Miss Mae Clark, 25 years old, is to be married in a lion's den at a local amusement park to—she does not yet know the name of her husband-to-be. Miss Clark, who is an orphan, came here with her two sisters from Denver last February with the small estate left them by their father to support them until they found positions. After months of fruitless tramping, Miss Clark, tired and discouraged and made desperate by the hunger forecast by the exhaustion of their funds, saw an advertisement offering $50 to any couple who would be married publicly in a cage of lions. Miss Clark promptly called upon the manager of the park. "I have no sweetheart," she told them, "but I will marry in the cage if you can find any one willing to marry me. There ought to be some lonely man in the community on the lookout for a good wife. I can cook, sew and keep house. The only requirements I make are that the man be American, honest and industrious. I would prefer that he be a brunette, as I am a blonde."

CHICKS HATCHED BY ROOSTER.

Maryland Hens Seem to Have Become Suffragettes.

Baltimore, Sept. 12.—The question wether the incubator that hatches the chick or the hen that lays the egg is the mother of the offspring has been bothering amateur poultry fanciers for years. "But suppose a rooster hatches the eggs—what then?" Capt. John H. White, 1514 Retreat street, would like to know. Capt. White, who hails from Salisbury, Wisconsin county, has a rooster that hatched two chicks. In a wooden box Pete, the rooster, sits with ruffled feathers clucking like a hen. Under his wing are two tiny, fuzzy chicks. Some time ago the captain saw Pete sitting on a nest in which were several eggs. "Shoo," yelled the captain. But Pete refused to budge. The same thing happened the next day. In order to see what would happen the captain placed three eggs in a box and Pete on top of them. The rooster accepted the situation and stuck to his post until recently, when he strutted forth and two chicks followed him. Since that time he has taken care of them as carefully as a hen.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS AND CONSTIPATION

Better than castor oil, calomel or cathartics to cleanse your stomach, liver and 30 feet of bowels. Harmless Laxative for men, women and children.

Primitive folks did not need laxatives. They lived outdoors, ate plenty of fruit, and all of their food was coarse. We modern people are different. We exercise too little, eat little fruit, and our food is too fine—too rich.

We simply can't have our ten yards of bowels clogged up, liver choked with sour bile and stomach full of foul effete matter and feel well. It means that the food and waste retained in the stomach and thirty feet of bowels ferments—decays. The decay creates poisons, gases and acids, and those poisons are sucked into the blood through the very ducts intended to suck in the nutriment. Then we have sick headache, become dull, bilious, tongue coated, nervous, meals don't digest, and we feel miserable all over. So we must make our choice. We must live like primitive folks, else we must take artificial means to move the excess bile and waste matter on and out of the system.

The safest, most harmless and effective stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator for men, women and children—is delicious Syrup of Figs, which doesn't irritate, gripe or weaken. Its effect is the effect of fruits. It is composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics. Don't think you are drugging yourself. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without harm.

Ask your druggist for "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," and see on the label that it is prepared by The California Fig Syrup Company. This is the only genuine—the old reliable. Refuse, with contempt, the so-called Fig Syrup imitations sometimes offered to deceive you.

RUN UP TREE BY CINNAMON BEAR

Man Was Captive Six Hours Before They Gave Up the Siege.

BEAR TRIES SCHEMES

Billings, Mont., Sept. 12.—Perched on the limb of a small tree and compelled to hold his legs in a horizontal position most of the time to prevent being reached by a large cinnamon bear, which, with its mate and three cubs, waited under the tree six hours for their prey to climb down and be devoured, was the experience of Warren Yates, of this city.

Walking along East Boulder creek, Yates espied an odd-looking animal lying on a log, and desirous of ascertaining what it was, he picked up a good-sized boulder and with a pitching eye that would do credit to a major league twirler put Bruin in the water by a blow on the head.

Peeved at being awakened from his slumber, Mr. Bear took after his assailant. Yates tackled the first tree in reach and succeeded in shinning up as high as the strength of the tree would allow before Bruin could get his claws on him.

Mr. Bruin was later reinforced by Mrs. Bruin and three cubs and they held Yates captive until 5 in the afternoon, when evidently giving up hopes of coaxing their human prisoner to descend to the ground, they wandered off into the hills. After seeing the bear family disappear over a hill Yates came down and started for camp.

Old Bruin worked several schemes in his efforts to dislodge his prey. After failing many times to reach him by standing on his hind legs, he resorted to butting the tree with his body in an effort to shake Yates from his position.

Finally Mrs. Bruin thought she had the right dope when she laid down and allowed her mate to stand on her body that he might have a better reach, but all the schemes that the bears could think of failed to work out.

The insurance policies written in this country during the last year amounted to $400,000,000 more than of the previous year.

Received and spread on record.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE MAYOR.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 10, 1912.
To the Honorable Common Council.

Gentlemen: I herewith submit to you a communication sent to me by W. S. Cutshall, city controller, containing the estimates submitted by the various departments of the city government, showing the amount to be required in their opinion to operate their departments for the fiscal year ending December 31, 1913, and his recommendation that appropriations be made according to the estimate set out in said communication. I have examined the estimates of the different departments and the revision of the same by the controller, and also his recommendation as to the tax levy for general and special purposes, and would recommend that appropriations be made as revised by the controller and the tax levy be fixed at $1.14.

In explanation of the two cents raise in the tax levy as recommended I desire to say that this recommendation has been made especially for carrying forward track elevation work, for which there has been such a great demand. Without such an increase in the tax levy the work will be very much delayed, and for this reason I trust your honorable body will concur in this recommendation.

Respectfully submitted,
JESSE GRICE,
Mayor.

Received and spread on record.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 10, 1912.
To the Honorable Mayor.

I herewith submit to you the estimates submitted by the various departments of the city government, showing the amount of funds which in their judgment will be required during the fiscal year ending December 31, 1913, which I have hereto attached:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH.
Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 28, 1912.
W. S. Cutshall, Controller, City Hall.

Dear Sir: The following is an estimate of the moneys which will be needed by the department of public health for the year 1913:

Prevention of contagious diseases	$1,800 00
Incidentals of department	225 00
Salary of the three sanitary officers	2,460 00
Salary of meat and dairy inspectors	2,640 00
Total	$7,125 00

The increase asked for in the amount for the meat and dairy inspectors is to meet the proposed increase now pending before the council which specifies the salary of $1,800.00 for Dr. Gillie. As you will note, the item for weed cutting has been done away with, for the reason that the present procedure as to municipal weed cutting has proven very unsatisfactory, and we feel that other regulations or ordinances will be necessary if we want Fort Wayne next year to look clean. We are hoping that unless an unforeseen epidemic should make its appearance, that we will be able to meet all our bills this year without asking for any additional appropriations, and for that reason are not asking for any increase in either our prevention of contagious disease fund or our incidental fund for the coming year.

One suggestion we have to make which we sincerely believe would be of value and would save both ourselves as well as the controller some bother, would be the uniting of these two funds and have them under one head. Every incidental in this department is used for the prevention of contagious disease, and we feel that it would be proper to have all the money used for the prevention of contagious disease put in one fund and under the heading, "The Prevention of Contagious Diseases."

Respectfully yours,
H. A. DUEMLING, Pres.
E. A. CRULL, Secy.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC PARKS.
Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 24, 1912.
Mrs. W. S. Cutshall, Controller, City.

Dear Sir: Your request under date of August 19, 1912, received.

The park board law, enacted by the legislature of 1911, under which we are now operating, provides for a special annual levy for park purposes of not less than five nor more than nine cents on every $100.00 of the city's assessed valuation.

A five-cent levy would scarcely yield sufficient income to barely pay the cost of maintenance of the parks we now have, leaving nothing for further improvements or the acquisition of any new grounds.

Our board therefore deems it most important that the full nine-cent levy, as made last year, should again be made for 1913, and it urgently requests you, when making your estimate for the coming year, to recommend to the city council a nine-cent levy for park purposes.

The gradual growth of our park system necessarily demands an annual increase in fixed expenses, such as the salary of the secretary, landscape architect, engineer, chief of the bureau of assessment, superintendent, the regular semi-monthly pay roll of the park employes, rent for Swinney park, fuel, repairs, road oil, repairs and expenses of the hot houses, tools, machinery and repairs to machines, additional trees and shrubs and many incidental expenses which annually occur.

The use of our parks during the last three or four years has increased fourfold and no expenditure of city funds is more popular with our people. Visitors to Fort Wayne constantly remark upon the splendid park system we already have and commend the wise action of our executives and city councils by which so much has been accomplished.

Respectfully submitted,
DAVID N. FOSTER,
LOUIS FOX,
LOUIS DORN,
OSCAR W. TRESSELT,
Board of Park Commissioners.

TOTAL ESTIMATES REQUIRED BY ALL DEPARTMENTS.

Finance	$ 67,578 00
Law	400 00
Municipal court	250 00
City sealer	200 00
Public works	156,000 00
Public safety	173,211 00
Public health	7,125 00
Total	$404,824 00

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 27, 1912.
W. Sherman Cutshall, Controller, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Dear Sir: The net taxables in the city of Fort Wayne is $34,308,490.00 for the year 1912, and the number of polls for the same is 11,766.

Most respectfully,
CALVIN B. BROWN,
Auditor Allen County.

The assessed valuation of taxable city property is approximately $35,000,000.00, which at the present levy of 85 5-4 cents for general appropriation purposes, would raise about $300,000.00; and to this amount $80,000.00 received for miscellaneous receipts, such as licenses, court fees, interests, etc., and $20,000.00 for poll tax, would make the total available receipts $400,000.00.

It will be necessary, therefore, to reduce the estimates slightly, in order to bring the total well within the limit of available receipts.

I have therefore revised the list slightly, wherever I thought possible, in order that the rate of tax for general appropriation purposes might remain the same.

The track elevation levy, I am advised, will again have to be placed at 10 cents in order to carry out the construction now under way and contemplation.

The levy for electric light plant fund, I believe, can be reduced to 2 1-2 cents, as the plant is self-supporting and the earnings from the plant, together with this small levy, will be sufficient to carry on extension work without interruption.

I feel that the 9-cent levy for park purposes should remain the same for the coming year, as the funds derived from this source are barely adequate to meet the demands made upon the park commissioners.

The raising of the track elevation levy to 10 cents will necessitate a slight increase in the total levy for the year 1913, as none of the fixed levies can be reduced except the lighting plant levy, as noted above.

The revenues derived for general fund purposes are barely sufficient to meet the excessive demands made by the different departments, especially for street cleaning, garbage disposal and new streets, the demand for new pavements being unprecedented in the history of the city.

I therefore feel that if property owners are willing and anxious to pay for new streets, the improvements should not be denied them on account of a shortage of funds in pay the city's portion for intersections.

I would therefore recommend that the appropriation be made according to the following schedule:

PROVIDING AN APPROACH FOR THE PROPOSED BARTHOLD STREET BRIDGE.

Honorable Common Council, City.

Gentlemen: As a result of considerable discussion relative to the straightening of St. Mary's river for the purpose of providing an approach for the proposed Barthold street bridge, the undersigned members of the board of public works, city attorney, city comptroller and the councilmen from the Fifth, Fourth, Third and Ninth wards were, by an arrangement, formed into a committee for the purpose of determining the best possible way to secure the necessary money for the straightening of the river.

We are firmly convinced that the river should be straightened, there being many reasons why it should be done, but especially because of the fact that the county council has appropriated the sum of $35,000.00 for the building of a bridge.

From the facts that were placed before us, we learned that the necessary work would cost approximately $25,000.00 In considering how the money could be secured for this necessary improvement, there was suggested to us the following methods.

First—By an appropriation from the general fund.
Second—By raising the tax levy.
Third—By issuing bonds.
Fourth—By an assessment on the property in the neighborhood of the improvement.

From information we found that the first means was not practicable, because the present necessary expenditures of the city are about equal to the receipts. As to the second there semed to be a feeling that the tax levy should not be placed at a higher figure, at least for the present year. Consequently, the only two methods left would be by assessment or by the issuing of bonds. There seems to be some feeling on the part of some that an assessment would place an unequal burden on the people of the neighborhood of the proposed improvement. Because of this difference of opinion the committee could reach no definite agreement as to which of the two last named methods would be better, so it was decided that the matter be submitted to your honorable body for final decision.

Therefore we would suggest and recommend that every effort be made to make possible the proposed improvement, and that this report be referred to the committees on finance and public grounds for the purpose of determining which method for raising the necessary money should be followed, and when so decided the same be submitted to your honorable body.

Respectfully submitted,

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. ...

An ordinance providing for the appointment of weighers of hay, grain and other articles, by dealers and warehouse men, on appliction to the board of public safety.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, that any dealer or warehouse man, selling, handling or storing hay, grain or other such articles, desiring the appointment, by the city, of a weigher and measurer to weigh and measure such articles as they come into or go out of the possession of said dealer or warehouse man, shall file a written application with the board of public safety asking said board that a weighmaster and measurer be appointed.

Section 2. Upon the application by any dealer, warehouse man, or any person, firm or corporation, asking for the appointment of a weighmaster or measurer, or weighmasters or measurers, said board may and is hereby given the power and authority to appoint such weighmaster and measurer or weighmasters and measurers to weigh or measure the different grain or other articles received by such dealer or warehouse man, or any other dealer and warehouse man, or any other person, firm or corporation, which person so appointed shall be subject to removal by said board of public safety whenever, in the opinion of said board, he or they shall fail to faithfully perform the duties of his or their employment. Each such weighmaster and measurer shall execute to the city of Fort Wayne a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), with sufficient surety to be approved by said board of public safety, for the faithful performance of his duties as such weighmaster and measurer. Such weighmaster and measurer, or weighmasters and measurers, shall receive no compensation from said city, but shall be paid by the party requesting said appointment.

Section 3. Every such weighmaster and measurer, or weighmasters and measurers, appointed as herein provided, shall be required to have his scales accurate at all times, and at any time they appear to be defective or out of order, he shall at once notify the city sealer and inspector of weights and measures to test the same, and shall not use said scales until the same have been tested and put in good accurate working order. GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. ...

An ordinance approving a contract entered into on the 10th day of September, 1912, by and between the city of Fort Wayne, party of the first part, and The White company, of Cleveland, Ohio, by and through its agent, George T. Fox, party of the second part.

Whereas, On the 10th day of September, 1912, the city of Fort Wayne, by and through its board of public safety, entered into a contract with The White company, of Cleveland, Ohio, by and through its agent, George T. Fox, for the purchase and delivery to said city of one combination chemical and hose wagon, which contract is as follows:

This agreement, made and entered into this 10th day of September, 1912, by and between the city of Fort Wayne, by and through its board of public safety, party of the first part, for convenience hereinafter designated as "city," and The White company, of Cleveland, Ohio, by and through its agent, George T. Fox, party of the second part, for convenience hereinafter designated as "contractor," witnesseth:

That said contractor, in consideration of the sum of five thousand five hundred dollars ($5,500.00), to be paid to it by said city on delivery, does agree to construct and deliver one (1) Model G. T. F. White combination chemical and hose wagon, according to the contractor's plans and specifications, all on file in the office of the board of public safety of said city, which plans and specifications are made a part of this contract as much as if fully copied herein at full length.

The contractor agrees to send one of its experienced mechanics to the city of Fort Wayne at the time the car is delivered to explain its operation and to instruct the men in the employ of the city who are to have charge of said car, how to run, operate and maintain the same; said mechanic to remain until said employes are entirely familiar with said machine.

Said contractor agrees to construct and build said auto truck and all its parts of the very best quality of material of their respective kinds, and it shall be constructed in a skillful and workmanlike manner as to every part and detail. Said car to be so constructed and delivered to said city on or before one hundred (100) days from the approval of this contract by the common council, and said contractor further agrees that it will save the city harmless from any suits or actions at law for any infringement or claim of infringement because of the use of said car, or any part thereof.

In witness whereof, the parties have hereunto set their hands and seals the day and year first above written.

CITY OF FORT WAYNE,
By J. C. HUTZELL,
MARION B. JOHNSON,
W. D. HENDERSON,
Board of Public Safety.
THE WHITE COMPANY,
GEORGE T. FOX,
Its Agent.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, that the contract heretofore entered into by and between the city of Fort Wayne and The White company, of Cleveland, Ohio, on the 10th day of September, 1912, as more fully set forth in the preamble hereto, be in all things fully confirmed and approved.

Section 2. This ordinance to be in full force and effect from and after its passage and approval by the mayor and legal publication.

ALLEN HAMILTON.

The ordinance was read the first time in full, and on motion the ordinance was read the second time by its title and referred to the committee on contracts and franchises.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. ...

An ordinance for the examination and licensing of engineers in charge of steam machinery and steam boilers in the city of Fort Wayne.

Section 1. Be it ordained by the common council of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, that there shall be appointed by the mayor a board of examiners, which shall consist of three members, who shall be first-class engineers, actively engaged in the management of steam engines or boilers at the time of appointment and during their term of office; and said appointments shall be referred to a committee to report on at the next regular meeting of the council for the approval of said council; provided, that no member of said board of examiners shall be in any way interested in the manufacture or sale of steam boilers or engines or supplies. It shall be the duty of said board of examiners to examine each applicant in pursuance of rules and regulations of this ordinance, and if the applicant is found qualified, the examining engineer shall sign a certificate of qualification, which shall be delivered to such applicant, such certificate to expire one year from the date of issue. Reissues shall be made upon payment of a fee of two dollars for engineer's and one dollar for boiler-tender's license.

Section 2. Said board of examiners shall be provided with suitable quarters by the board of public works. Said board of examiners shall make and enforce such rules and regulations for its government as may be deemed proper and desirable, not inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance and the general law. Said board, or a majority thereof, shall hold stated sessions twice each month, of such duration as may be deemed requisite for the purpose of examining and determining the qualifications of applicants for licenses for engineers.

Section 3. The board of examiners, or a majority thereof, shall have power to examine into the qualifications of applicants, to grant licenses, and, for cause, to suspend or revoke the same. The certificates or licenses shall consist of two grades, viz.: First and second grades, and the requirements for each grade shall be determined by said board of examiners.

Every applicant for a license must be made on the printed blanks furnished by the board of examiners, and that for an engineer must be accompanied by a fee of five dollars ($5.00), and that for a boiler or water-tender must be accompanied by a fee of two dollars ($2.00).

Section 4. An applicant for boiler-tender's license must be a person who has a thorough knowledge of the construction, management and operation of steam boilers. Each applicant must state upon the blank the extent of his experience; must have had not less than one year's practical experience about an engine or boiler room; must be at least twenty-one years of age, a citizen of the United States, or have declared his intention to become such; must be of temperate habits and good character; all of which must be vouched for in writing by at least two first-class engineers of Fort Wayne, or may be verified under oath by the applicant when required by the board of examiners.

Section 5. The board shall have power to suspend the license of an engineer or of a boiler or water-tender for permitting water to get too low in boiler; for carrying a higher pressure of steam than allowed by law; for an absence from his post of duty, or for any violation of the provisions of this ordinance, or other neglect or incapacity; provided, however, that no license shall be suspended or revoked without first giving the accused party an opportunity to be heard in his own defense. When a license of an engineer or boiler or water-tender shall be revoked, no license shall be reissued to the same person for the first offense for thirty (30) days thereafter; for the second offense for ninety (90) days; for any offense thereafter, his license shall be permanently revoked, and then only upon a full compliance with the conditions and provisions prescribed for an original license. In case of suspension or revocation of license, the fee thereof shall be forfeited to the city.

Section 6. Every certificate of license issued to an engineer or boiler or water-tender shall be signed by the majority of the board of examiners, sealed with an imprint of the board's seal, and attested by the city clerk.

Section 7. The board of examiners shall be caused to be kept in suitable books a full and correct detailed record of its official proceedings, including the names of the members of the board, the names, ages and residence of all applicants for licenses, the number issued and rejected, the number of licenses suspended, renewed or revoked, the cause therefor, the names of the persons forfeiting licenses; also the full amount of money received and that returned on rejected applications. The financial record must be balanced monthly, and the result thereof in writing shall be deposited on or before the second Tuesday of each month with the city comptroller.

Section 8. If any member of the board of examiners, or any person or employe connected therewith, shall at any time, or under any pretense whatever, himself, or through any other person or persons, receive, or cause to be received, any money, gift, or other valuable thing or compensation, except as herein provided, for the purpose of officially favoring an applicant, or for the purpose of deceiving or defrauding any person or persons, or shall issue a license authorizing any person to act as engineer or boiler or water-tender without first having examined and found him or them qualified for such service, in accordance with the provisions and conditions of this ordinance, then, in such cases, the member or members of the board or other persons so offending shall be removed from office by the mayor, and ever after be debarred from holding any position, official or otherwise, in the service of the city of Fort Wayne, and any applicant who shall himself, or through any other person, offer, or cause to be offered, any money or other valuable consideration to said board, or any member thereof, or any person connected therewith, for any official act or favor, shall ever be debarred from receiving any license under this ordinance.

Section 9. No steam engine or boiler subject to the provisions of this ordinance shall be used, managed or operated in the city of Fort Wayne, except by an engineer or water or boiler-tender, as provided herein, who shall have been duly licensed as provided herein, and who shall have and exhibit a certificate thereof. Any person who shall take charge of or manage or operate any steam engine or boiler, or any portion of a steam plant, in the city of Fort Wayne, without a proper and valid license, as provided by this ordinance, shall, for each and every offense, be subject to a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00); and any person, firm or agent, company or corporation, owning or controlling any steam engine, boiler or other steam plant, who shall authorize or permit any person or persons, without a proper and valid license as required herein, to take charge of, or to manage, or to operate, any steam engine or boiler, or any portion of a steam plant, shall, for each and every offense, be subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than two hundred dollars ($200.00), and each day's violation of the terms of this ordinance, or any of them, shall constitute a separate offense.

Section 10. It shall be the duty of the board of examiners to see that each boiler plant in the city of Fort Wayne shall have a licensed engineer or boiler or water-tender, or both, as provided herein, in charge at all times when working under pressure, whose certificates of qualification shall be at all times displayed in a conspicuous place in the engine or boiler room, and each engineer and boiler-tender shall devote his entire time, while boilers are working under pressure, to the duties of the plant under his charge. Any person who has charge of a steam boiler, whose duty it is to keep up the water in such boiler, shall be deemed a boiler or water-tender within the meaning of this ordinance, but the provisions hereof for the examination, licensing and regulation of boiler or water-tenders shall only apply to boiler or water-tenders who are in charge of steam boilers or boilers which are detached from the engine room, or so far removed therefrom or otherwise circumstanced or located as to render it difficult for the engineer in charge of the plant to give it or them his personal attention and supervision.

Section 11. Every engineer licensed under this ordinance shall, within the first ten days of January and July, respectively, of each year, make a written report to the board of examiners of the condition of the engine, boilers and steam apparatus comprising the plant under his charge, and every boiler or water-tender shall, at the same time, make to said board of examiners a similar report of the condition of the boiler or boilers and steam apparatus under his charge. All conditions or changes made in any plant must be reported by the engineer and the boiler or water-tender to the board of examiners within ten days thereafter.

Section 12. Provided: That any engineer who has been employed as a stationary engineer in charge of steam plant, where employed at time of passage of this act, for a period of one year next prior, and who filed with his application a certificate of such fact under oath, shall be entitled to a license without further examination.

Provided further: That any engineer, boiler or water-tender be required to notify the board of examiners when changing position from one plant to another.

Section 13. The engineers in charge of locomotives shall be exempt from the provisions of this ordinance, and all boilers used for heating private dwellings, hothouses, conservatories, and the persons operating them, shall be exempt from the provisions of this ordinance. The police are instructed to report all infractions of this ordinance coming to their notice.

Section 14. Said board hereby created shall not in its salaries and expenditures exceed the amount received from license fees; shall quarterly and yearly make a written report, under oath, to the city comptroller, of all receipts and expenditures, and pay over to the city of Fort Wayne all balances in their hands. Each member of said board appointed as provided by section one (1) of this ordinance shall receive a salary of three dollars ($3) for each regular meeting actually attended during his term of office.

In case the receipts from the license fees shall be insufficient to pay the above salaries and the legitimate expense of said board, their salaries above mentioned shall be diminished pro rata to the amount of the deficiency.

Section 15. All ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance, and not contained herein, are hereby repealed.

Section 16. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and due publication thereof.

J. J. BAUER.

GENERAL ORDINANCE NO. 573.

An ordinance transferring and vesting in the department of public parks of the city of Fort Wayne, Indiana, Pfeiffer avenue, Centlivre avenue and State street, in the said city, to be converted by the board of park commissioners into a boulevard, with full power of control, the management thereof, and changing the names of Pfeiffer avenue, Centlivre avenue and State based upon invoice weights on all coal delivered as aforesaid during the month previous thereto. The strict performance of this contract by the party of the second part and the prompt deliveries of coal herein on cars at said mines as aforesaid shall be subject to delays occasioned by strikes accidents and other unavoidable temporary casualties in the operation of said mines, and want of car supply and failure of railway companies to deliver and place cars at the mines for loading, or other causes beyond the control of the said party of the second part.

It isfurther agreed between the parties hereto that after the delivery of said coal on board of said cars by said party of the second part, said party, at the request of the first party and as the agent of the party of the first part, will use its best endeavors with the carriers to have said cars of coal delivered as aforesaid, billed and sent forward promptly to destination.

The prices made in this contract are based upon the present mining rate and shall advance or decline during the period of this contract.

All freight rates over the above that mentioned in this contract shall be paid by the party of the second part.

This contract shall not be binding or take effect until the second party shall execute to the party of the first part a bond in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) with sufficient surety thereon, to be approved by the mayor and the city controller of party of the first part, and conditioned for the faithful performance by party of the second part of all terms, conditions and agreements herein to be performed by it, and until this contract has been ratified and approved by the common council of said city.

CITY OF FORT WAYNE.
By FRANK T. BENOY,
G. A. SCHWEGMAN,
E. J. LENNON,
Its Board of Public Works.
Attest: H. W. BECKER, Clerk.
W. H. DUNN.

Know all men by these presents, that we, Wm. H. Dunn, doing business under the firm name of Wm. H. Dunn, and American Fidelity Company, of Montpelier, Vermont, as surety, are held and firmly bound unto the city of Fort Wayne in the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for the payment of which we jointly and severally bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns.

Witness our hands and seals this 23rd day of August, 1912.

Whereas, The above bound Wm. H. Dunn, entered into a contract with the city of Fort Wayne on the 1st day of August, 1912, to furnish to said city all the coal required by said city from the 1st day of August to the 31st day of July, 1913, at its crematory, and provided in said contract that it would execute to said city a bond in the above named sum for the faithful performance by it of said contract.

Now, therefore, if the above bound the Wm. H. Dunn shall faithfully perform all the terms, conditions and agreements in said contract contained, then this bond shall be void, else to remain in full force and effect.

WILLIAM H. DUNN.
AMERICAN FIDELITY COMPANY,
By E. J. SCOONOVER,
Attorney.

Approved:
CITY OF FORT WAYNE.
By FRANK TO BENOY,

A WEEK WITH A "PROTECTED" AMERICAN FAMILY SHOWS HOW BEAUTIFULLY OUR TARIFF PROTECTS FOREIGNERS.

(By Byron W. Holt, Chairman Tariff Reform Committee of Reform Club.)

There are about 22,000,000 households in the United States, all very thoroughly "protected" by the Payne-Aldrich bill. As I explained in a previous article in this newspaper, nearly all manufactured articles are sold cheaper abroad than they are here in the United States. Here is a glimpse of the way this protection works, in the course of a week's experience in an American family:

Monday.

The family is waked up by an alarm clock made in New Haven, which is sold in America for 68 cents wholesale, but is sold abroad for 55 cents. It is protected by 40 per cent. duty.

Mother uses a coffee mill to grind the coffee for breakfast. It cost the retailer from whom she bought it $1.13, and of course cost her more than that. It is sold to the foreign dealer for 90 cents.

The coffee is made in an aluminum coffee pot which the American manufacturer sells in foreign lands for $2.20, and at home for $3.08.

Y) manufacturer quotes $15 as the foreign price for the stove he charges $20 for in this country, because the government has decreed a tax of 45 per cent. on cook stoves.

For her "Anchor Brand" wringer she is charged one-fifth more, the export price being $31.65 a dozen and the domestic price $38.

Tuesday.

Tuesday is ironing day. Mother pays nearly a third more for her flatirons, as is proved by the export prices quoted by Philadelphia manufacturers. The heavier the iron the greater the weight of protection.

The set of sadirons these honest Quaker City people offer for export at 93 cents they will sell to the "protected" Americans for $1.25.

Wednesday.

Wednesday is baking day. The meat chopper costs just double the export price, the slaw and vegetable cutter and the potato shredder cost two-fifths more than they would sell for across the line in Canada, and pots and pans of aluminum come 50 per cent. dearer. It is chiefly due to that 45 per cent. duty.

Even the vanilla flavoring extract for the cornstarch pudding costs the American family a third more than for export to the foreign family.

Thursday.

The children's clothes have to be made. The domestic sewing machine would be just as handy if the American family could get it for the export price, $18.62, instead of the $30 or more they have to pay. Over $9,000,000 worth of American-made sewing machines weer sold abroad last year at these lower prices.

Friday.

After school Johnny mows the lawn. If he uses a fourteen-inch "Eclipse" mower the family has been mulcted at least $1.50 that would not have been charged for the same machine for export, the foreign and domestic prices being $6.50 and $8.

If Johnny's mother wishes to put the baby in a baby carriage she meets the tariff tax, too. For Newfoundland a leading American manufacturer quoted $9.50 for his "Solid Comfort" baby carriage, but for all those who enjoy the blessings of "protection" the wholesale price even is $12.67, or one-third more. If the family buys a vacuum bottle to keep the baby's milk cold, it costs 40 per cent. more than if it was sold abroad.

Saturday.

Father gets back from work early and mother asks him to fix up the furniture or the house, and he does it with a hammer on which he has paid a bonus of 20 per cent., a hand saw on which he has paid a bonus of 36 per cent., and a screwdriver on which he has paid a bonus of 37 per cent. above export prices. He doesn't want to miss his lodge, so he keeps his eye on the $1.75 Camden mantle clock. What would he think if he knew it sold for export at $1.20, or 45 per cent. less? The duty is 40 per cent.

Sunday.

The family goes to the country. The hammock cost 40 per cent. above the price asked of foreigners.

If they go into camp they pay 27 per cent. above export price for folding camp beds and 30 per cent. more for camp stools.

Then this head of an American household comes home and catches sight of himself in a mirror—which cost at wholesale $8, against $6.65, the price to foreign purchasers.

CONFESSES THAT HE WAS "CRIBBER"

Bible Student Returns Prize Given Him at His School.

HIS SOUL "CRINGES"

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Asa Patton, student at the Moody Bible institute, published the following advertisement in three Springfield newspapers:

"Since some of my work in the Springfield high school was not strictly honest, I wish to state that I did not deserve the honors I received in June, 1910."

Patton was "called" to the ministry four years ago. To a reporter he said:

"Yes, I am indeed an unfortunate sinner. I have tried to make some slight reparation, but my soul still cringes when I gaze into the eyes of an honest man.

"No one has ever cribbed as I have. Just before my graduation I won a prize in an oratorical contest. In my address I used phrase after phrase culled from speeches I had read. The prize burned my hand when I received it. Then I planned to go to the University of Illinois and become a farmer.

"Later came my call to the ministry. A young woman brought it about. Then I examined my soul and found it black. Oh, the rottenness I found therein! With my mother I went to the school authorities and confessed. I returned the oratorical prize. But still something rankled in my breast. I had been selected valedictorian.

"By cribbing, swiping and prevailing on the ignorance of instructors, I stood highest in my class. I had received honors broadcast in Springfield. So I advertised. Now my soul does not weigh on me."

$80,000,000.00 LOST ANNUALLY BY WAGE EARNERS.

Dr. Sadler estimates that about $80,000,000.00 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It will stop the cough and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Cure your common colds quickly, and prevent their developing into more serious conditions. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates. Is safe for children. The genuine is in the yellow package. Drier Drug Co.

FREAK CHILD IS FOUND.

Baby Born With Initials in His Retinas.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Physicians at the Jefferson Medical college are attempting to explain the phenomena of initials continually mirrored in the retina of the eyes of two-year-old John Dugan, of No. 1622 North Sixteenth street, this city.

Mirrored in his eyes are two distinct letters of typographical design, each a quarter of an inch high. They are the initials of the name decided upon by the boy's parents before he was born. That name was John Dugan, the name the boy now bears. In the middle of John's right eye, as if imbedded in the iris by the hand of a fanatic master surgeon, is the print of the type "J." In the left eye is similarly set his other initial, "D."

John Dugan was expectantly awaited by his parents, and they decided upon his name before he was born. He is now more than two years old, and the initials are still there. They are even more plainly visible than they were when John was born. The child's eyesight is perfect and his health robust. His mind and conduct is normal.

Mrs. J. N. Hill, Homer, Ga., has used Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for years, and says: "I cheerfully testify to the merits of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, having used it in my family for years, and always recommend it. I find it never fails to cure our coughs and colds and prevents croup. I have five children and it is the only thing they take for colds and always with good results. We would not be without it in our home." Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates or harmful drugs. Dreier Drug Co.

WAS HUGGED TOO MUCH.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Laura Seaman filed suit for divorce from Arthur Seaman, to whom she was married July 10 last.

Mrs. Seaman says in her petition that her husband hugged her with such frequency and often in view of the public that his demonstrative affection became embarrassing and that he showed anger when she protested. She adds that a month of "spooning" after marriage is enough for her.

T. L. Parks, Murrayville, Ga., Route 1, is in his 73rd year, and like the majority of elderly people, he suffered with kidney trouble and bladder weakness and urinary irregularity. He says: "I have suffered with my kidneys. My back ached and I was annoyed with bladder irregularities. I can truthfully say, one 50c bottle of Foley Kidney Pills cured me entirely." They contain no habit forming drugs. Dreier Drug Co.

DREDGERS DIG UP ANCIENT CURIOS

BY A STEAM SHOVEL

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Sept. 12.—Workmen of the Monongahela and Western Dredge company, under Government Inspector Colonel Edward B. Lynn, of Cincinnati, Ohio, engaged in reconstructing a channel in the Ohio river, brought to the surface in their steam shovel the other day what is thought to be the remains of a person of the prehistoric age; a portion of a tusk of some prehistoric mammoth and a large cartridge or bomb.

The bones of the individual are of abnormal size and remarkably well preserved, making it certain the person measured at least seven feet in height.

The piece of tusk is three inches in diameter, but the ivory is three inches inly destroyed by the action of the water and the chemicals in the earth, until it now has the appearance of lime. The cartridge or whatever it is, is about fourteen inches long and eight inches in diameter and is bound with heavy brass hoops and charged with a big lead ball.

When the work of dredging the channel is finished the stage of the river here will correspond with the water gauge in Cincinnati, Ohio, and a water gauge will be placed at this point.

W. A. Smith, Bridgeton, Ind., is telling his friends and neighbors of his return to health and strength by the use of Foley's Kidney Pills, and he says he wants others to benefit also. "I was so crippled with rheumatism I could not dress without help, and had kidney trouble for years. I started using Foley Kidney Pills and now all my trouble has left me and I do not feel that I ever had rheumatism. I rest well at night and though 59 years old, can now do the work of a man of 35 years. I would like to be the means of others getting benefit from Foley Kidney Pills.—Dreier Drug Co.

SPECIALIST

REDUCED FEES

I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases.

For the purpose of proving the advantage of my methods in the treatment and cure of PELVIC, NERVOUS and CHRONIC diseases I will not only give to every one who is anxious to obtain a cure and who will call at my office before Sept. 15, a careful and thorough examination FREE of CHARGE, but to further demonstrate to the public the rapidity and thoroughness of the CURES I make, I will treat any case I accept for a CURE between now and Sept. 15 AT A GREATLY REDUCED FEE.

Are you physically able to do your part and keep your place in the procession, or is there some disease which is slowly, but surely, undermining your vitality and unfitting you for performing your part of the duties which every man owes to his country, to the neighbors, to his family, his loved ones and to himself?

Do you think you are doing your duty by neglecting an opportunity to rid yourself of the shackles of disease?

Every man who does less than he should do at his desk, in the shop or on the farm is weak in some way.

I have found that the man who is unable to accomplish all that he hopes or expects is often the silent sufferer from some PELVIC or CHRONIC disease which is slowly, but surely, wrecking his nervous system and as surely unfitting him for actively competing with his fellowmen.

We all have a duty to perform or an ambition to fulfill and those who are weakest must inevitably drop behind.

Do you want to be one of these, or do you want to take your place in the world that nature intended you should?

Years of experience in the treatment of PELVIC NERVOUS and CHRONIC diseases have enabled me to perfect methods which will not only cure these DEEP-SEATED diseases in which the ordinary methods have failed, but will restore to a normal and healthy condition the broken-down and devitalized NERVOUS system.

I PERSONALLY TREAT EVERY CASE.

HUNDREDS of satisfied patients have testified to my ability to cure these CHRONIC and DEEP-SEATED diseases in which the ordinary methods have failed.

FREE EXAMINATION—To any sufferer who honestly desires to get well I will give a careful and thorough examination FREE OF CHARGE, and if your case is curable I will make my fee as low as possible and consistent with honest, scientific treatment. If you cannot be cured I will frankly tell you so, as I have no time to waste on incurable diseases.

I learn the exact condition of the rectum, the bladder and every organ of the genito-urinary system. This in itself is of the highest importance, inasmuch as a broken-down nervous system and many more of the troubles of the STOMACH, LIVER, HEART, KIDNEYS, ETC., are reflex and are the direct results of some PELVIC LESION OR DISEASE.

TUBERCULOSIS now curable by the wonderful intravenous treatment which I am using. Call in and I will show you reports of desperate cases that have been cured and prove my assertion beyond all doubt.

VARICOCELE, STRICTURE, RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without knife and without detention from business.

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of Blood Poison and kindred diseases.

ECZEMA and other skin diseases quickly cured.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT results from inflammation. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent. of the cases. Consultation and All Communications Strictly Confidential.

OFFICE HOURS—8-12, 1-5; Evenings, 7-8; Sundays, 9-12 Only; Friday, 9-5 Only; No Office Hours on Thursday.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—Settling pressure in the wheat pit today wiped out an advance due to firm cables. December started at 91½c to 91¼, and fell back to 90⅝@90⅝c.

The market suffered additional loss on account of liberal arrivals southwest. The close was nervous at 90⅜c for December.

Corn eased off on account of ideal conditions for the growing crop. December opened at 52½c and then declined to 52c.

A further drop occurred as a result of increased offerings of old corn from the interior. The close was unsettled with December at 51⅝c.

Purchases for leading houses made oats firm. December started at 32¼@32⅜c to 32⅜c, and seemed inclined to remain within those limits.

Provisions held steady with hogs. First sales were: January, $18.85 for pork, $10.67½ to $10.70 for lard and $10.12½ for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Sept. 12.—The stock market developed an irregular tone almost at the outset of today's dealings. Reading, which opened with a fractional gain, soon lost its advantage. Slight advances by Steel, Smelting, Amalgamated, Union Pacific and Great Northern were partly offset by losses in Atchison, Louisville & Nashville and a few other issues.

Money continued to be the overshadowing feature of the stock market, opening today at 6¼ per cent; dealings on the exchange were much restricted, with nominal price changes in the better known issues. American Tobacco and Harvester gained between 1 and 2 points. Illinois Central was the only railway stock to vary over a point, declining 1¼. Bonds were easy.

The market closed firm. General recovery was made in the final hour when money rates relaxed to the lowest of the day. A feature was Colorado Fuel, which rose over 2 points.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

New York, Sept. 12.—Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent.

Sterling exchange, weak, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.82.60 for sixty day bills, and at $4.85.60 for demand.

Bar silver, 62¾c.
Mexican dollars, 48½c.
Government bonds, steady.
Railroad bonds, heavy.

Money on call, strong, at 4½@5½ per cent; ruling rate, 5½ per cent; closing bid, 4½ per cent; offered at 4¾ per cent.

Time loans, strong; sixty days, 5@5¼ per cent; ninety days, 5¼@5½ per cent; six months, 5¼@5½ per cent.

LOCAL FORECAST.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 12.—For Fort Wayne and Vicinity: Fair and continued cool tonight and Friday.

GENERAL FORECAST.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—For Indiana, Ohio and Lower Michigan: Fair tonight and Friday.

SUMMARY OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

The cool wave continues to spread southeastward, and while high temperatures were general yesterday throughout the Ohio valley, the Atlantic and Gulf coast states, the prolonged hot weather of the last two or three weeks has given way to decidedly cooler weather over the central and eastern states. Some rains occurred yesterday over the north Atlantic coast states, and the storm on the gulf coast is giving continued rains over the south Atlantic coast districts; Charleston reports a twenty-four hour rainfall of 1.60 inches during the last twenty-four hours, making a total rainfall of 5.58 inches for the last two days.

In this section fair and moderately cool weather will continue tonight and Friday. Temperatures are somewhat higher in the northwest this morning, but warmer weather will not reach this section before Friday night or Saturday.

Chairman McAdoo, of the national committee, and Norman E. Mack, former national chairman. The party went to a hotel, where they met Gov. Dix and his staff.

The time of arrival of Gov. Wilson was not generally known, but there were crowds at the station. The governor shook hands with the folk who crowded about him. A number of state officials met the governor at the hotel, where Gov. Dix placed a military aid at Gov. Wilson's disposal.

"That's hardly necessary," said the nominee, with a smile.

Gov. Dix and the presidential nominee chatted for a few minutes in the parlor of the hotel before leaving for the state fair grounds, where they were to deliver addresses. At the fair grounds they were met by a local cavalry troop.

Lieut. Gov. Conway, president of the state fair commission, introduced Gov. Wilson and Gov. Dix. The weather was ideal and an immense crowd greeted the speakers.

The meeting of the democratic state committee and the conference of democratic county chairmen called here today to give the leaders of the state an opportunity to greet Gov. Woodrow Wilson, the party's national standard bearer, gave abundant opportunity for conferences concerning the make up of the ticket that is to be nominated by the state convention when it meets here on Oct. 1.

Dix Still a Candidate.

Gov. Dix, who is seeking a renomination at the hands of his party, has not changed his attitude on the subject. "I am a candidate," he said today, "and expect to be renominated and re-elected."

Although there was much discussion of democratic candidates there appeared to be no disposition to "fix a slate" three weeks in advance of the state convention. "Time enough for that after the republicans have named their ticket at Saratoga," said one of the leaders. "Our chief mission here today is to greet Gov. Wilson."

Charles F. Murphy, Tammany leader, has been testing sentiment among the up-state committeemen, but has declined to indicate what he has learned or what his preferences are. It is well known, however, that some of the leaders have expressed their opposition to the renomination of the governor.

TO MEET AT THE COURT HOUSE.

Patriotic Sons and Daughters to Hear From County Commissioners.

A meeting of the special committee of the Patriotic Sons and Daughters, of Allen county, will be held this evening at the assembly room of the court house, at which time the members will receive a communication from the board of county commissioners, pertaining to the request made by the organization that a room be set aside for regular meetings of local military organizations. A large attendance is anticipated.

DURBIN OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Mr. Durbin also addressed himself to county option and made himself clear as to how he stood on that plank of the republican state platform. Slowly and deliberately, as if he were anxious that every word he uttered should be heard and weighed carefully, Mr. Durbin said:

"If elected governor of Indiana I shall in fulfillment of this platform pledge my party's endeavor to have restored to the statute book the county local option law. The only hope of securing progressive temperance legislation for Indiana lies in the success of the republican state and legislative tickets."

Mr. Durbin declared that as governor he would stand for the enforcement of law, and commended the plank in the state platform which calls for the speedy removal of incompetent, corrupt or inefficient officials "whose continuance in authority is one of the most prolific sources of lawlessness."

When Mr. Durbin addressed himself to bosses and bossism he was loudly applauded.

Buenos Aires is employing one thousand men on its subway. At four different points the tunneling is being done by a powerful excavator, especially constructed in Hamburg, which, with 150-horse power, takes out two cubic meters of earth at one time and deposits it in electric trucks standing alongside.

CAMPBELL DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

Indiana Progressive Leader Yields to Results of Injuries.

OTHER INDIANA NEWS

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.—Charles H. Campbell, 59, of Shelbyville, Ind., national progressive committeeman, died last night from the effects of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last Sunday. He and a party of friends were on their way here to attend the opening of the state campaign by Albert J. Beveridge, progressive nominee for governor, when their car was struck by a train. Mr. Campbell suffered internal injuries and pneumonia developed. He was in charge of the Roosevelt forces in the campaign for delegates to the republican convention.

Mr. Campbell had been engaged actively in business since 1900 and was an ardent worker in behalf of the progressive party. He was in charge of the Roosevelt headquarters in Indianapolis before the republican convention in Chicago, and when President Taft was renominated Mr. Campbell aided in launching the progressive party.

Up to the time the new party was formed Mr. Campbell was a republican. He was regarded as influential politically, not only in Shelbyville, his home, but also throughout the state.

He began work as a messenger boy and had risen to be one of Shelbyville's wealthiest furniture manufacturers.

NO WEDDING BELLS WILL RING.

Prospective Groom is Arrested for Theft at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—No wedding bells will ring next Sunday for John E. Paxson, 18 years old. The youth is locked up in the city prison, charged with having stolen $300 and merchandise valued at $120 from his employers. Paxson and an Irvington girl, whose name the youth refused to divulge, were to have been married next Sunday and a salary of $8 a week was found inadequate to supply the funds needed in starting a home. So Paxson stole, according to his admission to the police.

The young man was employed as a clerk at the cigar stand in the Odd Fellow building. For the last eight months it is alleged he has taken small sums from time to time. Paxson formerly lived in Knightstown.

GOES TO CHICAGO NEXT.

French Lick, Ind., Sept. 12.—Chicago was chosen for the next bi-ennial meeting of the general federation of women's clubs by the board of directors. The council meeting in April, 1913, will be held in Washington. Department heads will be chosen before session closes.

The most important place assigned to an Indiana woman was given to Mrs. M. F. Johnston, of Richmond, who was made chairman of the art committee. The members of the board will visit New Harmony after their work is done on the invitation of the woman's library club. They will be the luncheon guests of Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon, of Evansville, en route to New Harmony.

STATE GEOLOGIST ILL.

FROM ALASKA FOR OPERATION.

John Morrow Arrives in Rochester After 52 Days' Trip on Stretcher.

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 12.—John Morrow, a well-known Alaskan, has reached the end of the long and tedious journey to Rochester to submit to a surgical operation. Fifty-two days were required to make the trip. During the entire time Mr. Morrow was compelled to travel by boat and rail on a stretcher. He was accompanied by a private physician and his business partner, Louis Vigelius. No decision has been reached as yet by Dr. Mayo as to the exact nature of Mr. Morrow's physical ailment, and whether an operation is necessary is to be determined. The patient stood the long journey well and hopes to return to his business interests in the Northland with his health wholly recovered. Mr. Morrow's home is in Seattle, where his mother and sister reside. He went to Alaska many years ago.

LANDLOCKED FISH RESCUED.

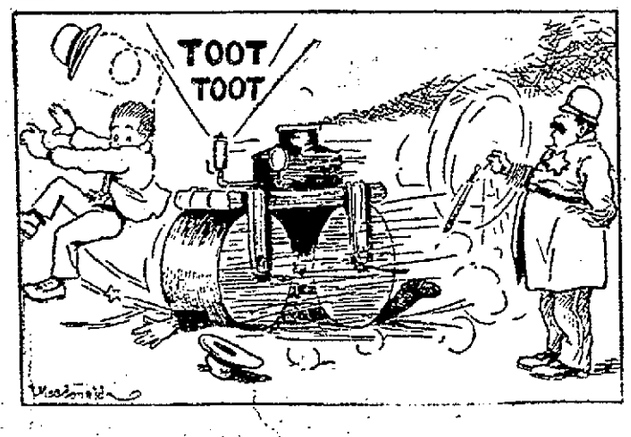

Members of Wausau (Wis.) Protective Association Do Good Work.

Wausau, Wis., Sept. 12.—Members of the Marathon County Fish and Game Protective association put in as much time as physical endurance would permit in rescuing fish that were landlocked as a result of a recent flood. They worked under the supervision of Deputy State Game Wardens J. W. Foster, of this city, and Frank Hull, of Wittenberg. How many fish were rescued will never be even approximately known, for the work was necessarily hurried. It is estimated that at times as many as 2,000 small fry were taken at one haul, principally crappies and bass. The crappies ranged in length from one-half inch to two inches. This was very gratifying, for it showed that these fish are increasing in countless numbers and that a large supply is soon assured. The bass were mostly those planted last spring and these had grown in length from one to three and three and one-half inches. Countless numbers of bullheads were taken, most of them little fellows one-half inch in length, and there were many pike, pickerel and sunfish. Very few large fish were taken, they having managed to escape to the river.

THE STEAM ROLLER.

GIVEN TERM FOR FORGERY.

White County Man, Wealthy, Utters $50,000 in Bad Notes.

Michigan City, Ind., Sept. 9.—Ora Eldridge, 36 years old, one of the leading citizens of White county, was received at the state prison to serve from two to fourteen years for having forged notes aggregating $50,000. Eldridge had been a fugitive for eight months, and during that time visited several foreign countries. Nothing was known of his whereabouts by the White county officials until a few days ago, when they learned that he was at Francesville, Ind., and ready to surrender. Sheriff Ben Price arrested the fugitive there and took him to Monticello, where he was sentenced to the state prison. When Eldridge issued the notes it is supposed that he expected to be in a position to meet them when due. The officer who brought Eldridge here said that the prisoner is worth $150,000.

TWO FREED OF ONE CHARGE.

State Dismisses Complaint Against Pair of Detroit Aldermen.

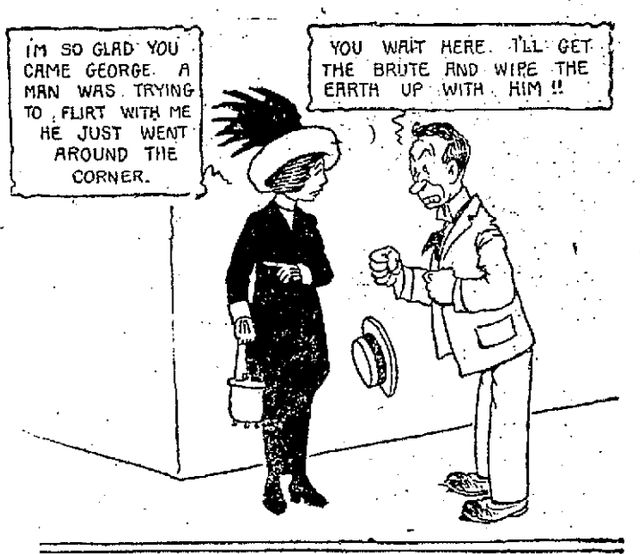

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—The charge of promising to accept a bribe from the Wabash Railroad company made against Aldermen William Koenig and Patrick O'Brien was quashed at the request of the prosecution when the aldermen appeared in police court yesterday for a preliminary hearing. Both men with sixteen others, still face a charge of conspiring to defraud the city.

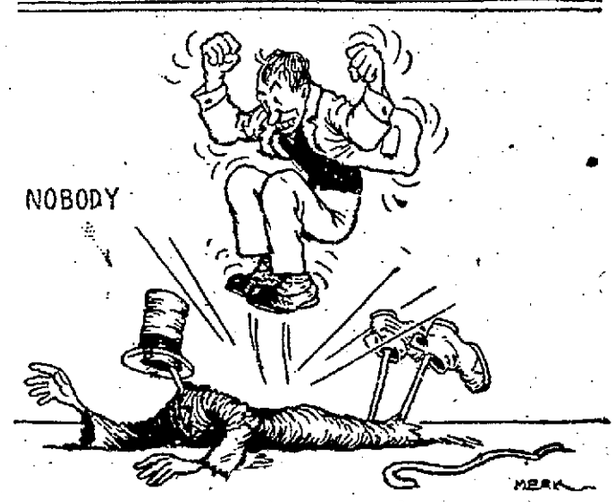

The preliminary examination of Alderman David Rosenthal, also alleged to have agreed to accept a bribe, was completed but decision was reserved until a later date.

The international polar commission will convene in Rome during the meeting of the tenth international geographical congress on April 2, 1913.

Pay your 25 cents to get into the Fair Grounds that you may see the $450 complete bedroom suit in Circassian Walnut, shown in Art Hall by the Foster Furniture Co. Circassian Walnut is the most expensive of all Furniture woods. The suit has a Napoleon Bed—the most popular of all styles at present—a design that never is out of fashion.
